HERE COME THE TRACKS— This was the scene today looking from the north portal of the restored Puerto Suello Tunnel, as Morrison-Knudsen Co. crews laid track toward the opening.

Trains To Return Sept. 27 Through Puerto Suello Bore

Six-Year Blockage Repaired

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The hoot of whistles and clang of bells on freight trains will be heard in San Rafael again beginning Sept. 27.

On that date, Northwestern Pacific Railroad will resume its main line service through the city. It will mark the first train service through San Rafael since two boys set fire to the Puerto Suello railroad tunnel on July 20, 1961.

FOURTH DEADLINE

Restoration of service will mean NWP has met the fourth deadline set for it by the California Public Utilities Commission, with more than month to spare. Service was to have been restored by last July, but when Morrison-Knudsen Co., contractors on the tunnel restoration, ran into unexpected difficulties, the railroad asked for a series of extensions. It was granted an extension to last Dec. 31, then one to Feb. 28, then to July 31, and finally to Oct. 31. This time, it will make it.

At that, it will be a race against time for the repair contractor. A crew was laying track today at the north entrance of the tunnel. New track must be laid through the restored tunnel to connect with that on the south.

BARGE SERVICE

In announcing the restoration of San Rafael service, Southern Pacific Co., NWP's parent company, disclosed that the Tiburon barge service will cease operating on the same day the tunnel reopens.

This means the Tiburon City Council will have to hurry if it wants to stage a "last train" civic fete, as councilmen agreed last Jan. 10 that it should do.

Restoration of San Rafael service will make the Sausalito-San Rafael route the NWP main line. Freight that has been barg-

THE TRAINS WILL FOLLOW—View from atop Puerto Suello Hill shows how track sections, pre-fabricated on the job, were being laid today. First section was about 150 feet north of tunnel at this point.

Most Supervisors Against Closing

By DON BRANNING

A majority of the Marin County Board of Supervisors went on record today in opposition to elimination of the controversial Family Rehabilitation Center without a study of the program first.

Supervisor John F. McInnis endorsed a proposal by the Bay Area Social Planning Council to name a blue ribbon, 11-member panel to evaluate all county juvenile facilities operated by the probation department.

Also favoring study of the FRC were Chairman Thomas T. Storere and Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

"I'm not prepared today to phase out this program," said Storer, endorsing appointment of a study group.

McInnis said, however, that any board decision of the Family Rehabilitation Center may be academic since Juvenile Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner was "within half a hair" of deciding not to send any more juveniles to FRC for treatment.

Honor Billing System In Medi-Cal Attacked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A spokesman for California county governments urged the legislature today to throw out the honor system in billing for services under the state's financially troubled Medi-Cal program.

"It won't work in a program of this magnitude," William R. McDougall, executive director of the County Supervisors Association, told the Assembly Public Health Committee.

"When you're talking about a $600 million or an $800 million program even the slightest abuse or outright fraud can involve staggering millions of dollars."

McDougall testified as the committee started its second day of hearings in an attempt to find answers to the problems of the medical assistance program for the needy.

Committee Chairman Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford, said as the hearings opened yesterday he believed $210 million in program cutbacks sought by the Reagan administration would break a state promise to provide "mainstream medicine" to the 1.5 million Californians eligible for services.

The California Supreme Court has been asked to decide if the planned reductions are legal.

McDougall said the state demands the strictest program approval, scrutiny and post audits from the counties in Medi-Cal matters.

Medical vendors who participate in the program now are

Sausalito Polls Turnout Heavy

A heavy voter turnout in Sausalito's library referendum election was indicated by vote counts late this morning.

Most precinct workers called described the voting as heavy. Total votes tallied at 11:30 a.m. were 548 out of approximately 3,400 registered voters.

Largest turnout was 117 at the main fire station of an estimated 520 registered voters. Other totals were:

Campbell Hall, 96 of an estimated 600; Central School, 91 of 559; City Hall, 77 out of 410; at 108 Third Street, 74 of 514; Sausalito Nursery School, 64 of 400; Bayside School, 29 of 400.

The polls will remain open until 7 p.m. Election results should be available at city hall by 8 p.m.

Orr Formally Charged In Dance Hall Fracas

Formal complaint of disturbing the peace was filed in Marin Municipal Court late this morning against Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr, 39.

The complaint, signed by Richard D. Conn, 27, dance hall operator who originally arrested Orr on a citizen's complaint, was accepted by the district attorney's office after a conference yesterday between Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and Conn.

It charges Orr with distrubing the peace by "tumultuous and offensive conduct" and by "using vulgar, profane and indecent language in the presence of women and children in a loud and boistrous manner."

Orr, free without bail, was arrested on the citizen's complaint after allegedly picking a fight and using four-letter words before juveniles at a Saturday night dance at Irwin Street Warehouse, 502 Irwin Street, San Rafael.

Conn, operating a dance there, said Orr came to pick up Orr's 13-year-old daughter, then became abusive when Conn halted him at the entrance.

New York Teacher Truce Talks Fail

NEW YORK (AP) — A nine hour negotiating session broke off at 3 a.m. today with no settlement of the strike by some 50,000 teachers that has plunged the nation's largest school system into turmoil.

Cautious optimism was expressed on both sides, but bargainers declined to say how close an agreement might be.

$5 BILLION UMBRELLA

Antimissile Project Bared By McNamara

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The United States will start next month building a "small" antimissile defense system to protect against possible attack by Red China in the mid-1970s.

This was disclosed here yesterday by Defense Secy. Robert S. McNamara.

However, said the secretary, the U.S. will not attempt to build an antiballistic missile "umbrella" to protect its cities against Russian nuclear power, because to do so would merely accelerate the arms race.

TO FOIL CHINA

The "small" protective screen against the much lighter capability of China will cost about $5 billion, he said. It will be built over five years at the rate of a billion a year.

The secretary addressed an audience of newspaper executives at an United Press International-sponsored conference in the Fairmount Hotel yesterday afternoon, while about 200 pickets milled outside the hotel doors. The pickets carried placards calling for an end to the Vietnam war, and chanted, "Get out of Vietnam."

Most of them were hippies, although the throng also included delegations from the Berkeley Mothers for Peace and a few other "straight" protest groups.

WOMAN SHOUTS

Midway in McNamara's 45-minute talk, a woman stuck her head through the doorway of the Gold Room to shout: "Get the U.S. out of Vietnam now."

The defense secretary merely smiled and continued with his talk about nuclear weapons. Neither then nor at any other time during the speech did he mention Vietnam.

The difference between attempting antimissile defense against Russia and against China, as McNamara explained it, is this:

The Soviet Union and the United States both have such nuclear striking power that either could take the other's maximum first strike and still be able to retaliate. To step up defense installations in the U.S., he said, would merely cause the U.S.S.R. to step up its nuclear offensive strength. Thus, it would not increase U.S. security.

Instead, said McNamara, the U.S. must increase its own of-

How Rockets Will Protect Entire U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's plan to build a $5 billion Nike X antiballistic missile system will provide each region of the United States with at least one battery of far-reaching warhead interceptors.

Defense scientists made this clear today in guarded interviews about Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's so-called "light" defense against nuclear attack, primarily directed to guard against a potential threat from Red China.

Although the plan he announced is one of the biggest strategic decisions in U.S. history, it is not the often-discussed full-blown antimissile system which would have an estimated cost of up to $40 billion. McNamara opposes such an outlay.

The exact locations of the antimissile batteries, each with several missiles, remain a closely held secret. But one Pentagon official familiar with the plans said the main line of defense will center on several antimissile complexes stationed just below the Canadian border.

Other antimissile sites will be

Tomales Bond Vote Heavy

Voting on the $1,100,000 bond issue in the Tomales High School District was described as "very heavy" by noon today.

Supt. Anthony Matulich in checking the votes said that he expected the vote to go nearly 90 per cent of the registered vote.

At two locations at Point Reyes, 89 out of 320 had voted at the fire station by noon and 12 out of 33 at the elementary school ballot box.

At the Marshall Hotel, 36 of 168 had voted plus 14 absentee ballots. At Tomales Town Hall, 85 of 300 had voted by 11 a.m.

Haiphong Hit Again; Terrorists Bomb Taipei's Saigon Embassy

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Navy pilots bombed targets in the North Vietnamese port city of Haiphong yesterday for the second consecutive day, a military spokesman reported today. It was the third such raid since Haiphong was taken off the list of prohibited targets Sept. 11.

In Saigon terrorists bombed the Nationalist Chinese embassy and shot two Chinese in a series of attacks which gave rise to reports of the start of a Red Guard movement in Vietnam. At least two persons were killed and 26 wounded in the embassy explosion.

To the south, U.S. B52 bombers struck three times today against three Communist divisions in the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) where North Vietnamese artillery and mortars hit U.S. Marines at Con Thien with hundreds of rounds.

Monsoon rains have turned the Con Thien area into a quagmire, flooding the World War I type trenches the Marines have dug against the Constant artillery attacks. Flood waters drowned 10 Marines and four more died in the artillery bombardments. The Marines killed three North Vietnamese in the only significant ground action. Forty-five Marines were wounded.

Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, commander of U.S. Air Forces in Vietnam, made a strong plea today for continued bombing of the North. He said it was impossible to halt Communist infiltration into the South but that the air raids did slow down the southward movement.

Momyer told newsmen North Vietnam had moved the bulk of its MIG fleet to Communist China and that the remaining MIGs were based at Phu Yen and Gia Lam, bases thus far immune to U.S. aerial attacks.

The embassy blast narrowly missed Chinese Ambassador Hu Lien, 62, tore into a next door bank and caught victims in the street. At least two persons were killed and about 30 wounded in the explosion and sniping.

U Thant Paints Gloomy Outlook

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The outgoing president of the U.N. General Assembly and Secretary-General U Thant painted a gloomy picture of the world outlook today as the assembly began its 22nd regular session.

In the introduction to his annual report, Thant expressed fears of a new Middle East war unless progress is made toward eliminating the conditions which led to the June conflict between Israel and the Arabs.

The assembly president, Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan, deplored what he called the rising trend toward external intervention and warned that guerrilla movements were already forming in many parts of the world which "might well become the Vietnams of tomorrow."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Barry Bares '64 Shenanigans

NEW YORK (AP) — Barry Goldwater says his supporters at the 1964 Republican National Convention were prepared to black out radio and television coverage by any network that "got a little too obnoxious."

Goldwater

Describing some of the strategy and conterstrategy during the campaign, Goldwater revealed yesterday: "We had every cable of every television company and every radio company marked up in the loft of the Cow Palace."

Another political maneuver he described was the case of the missing bullhorn batteries.

"You might recall Sen. Hugh Scott got up once with the bullhorn, and it didn't work. The batteries weren't in it," he said.

He said of these tactics, "These are the little things you do. It is perfectly fair in love and war."

Ship Pact Sure?

LONDON (AP) — A British bid to win a multimillion-dollar contract to build nine minesweepers for the U.S. Navy will go through despite a congressional ban on the use of 1968 defense funds for foreign warship orders, qualified sources reported.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has told his British counterpart, Denis Healey, he can count on building the nine minesweepers if the British bid is the lowest, the sources said.

State College Papers Halted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco State College officials Monday suspended all student publications, including the daily newspaper and a controversial weekly, pending the selection of a board of publications.

The board dissolved itself last spring in a controversy over the firing of the editor of the daily Golden Gater by the journalism department.

Glenn Smith, vice president for business affairs, said "a lot of problems have to be worked out, including the role of the journalism department and faculty in the publication of the Gater."

Episcopal Ghetto Plan Wins Backing Of Other Faiths

SEATTLE (AP) — A swelling lineup of religious leaders across the nation today backed an Episcopal leader's appeal that all faiths divert money to Negro-led groups working to improve the lot of their race.

Messages of support poured in from various Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish officials.

Hailing the plan, Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of the National Council of Churches, said the interdenominational organization favored reallocation of Church funds to help "victims of discrimination" win justice.

The president of the American Jewish Committee, Morris B. Abrams of New York, said it also stood behind the call for "a major cooperative undertaking" to aid the poor in their struggle for "basic human rights."

Catholic Bishop James P. Shannon of St. Paul-Minneaplis sent his endorsement of the plan plan "for broader ecumenical response" to the crisis in slums of American cities.

The reaction came in response to a plea by Episcopal Presiding Bishop John E. Hines for a "full-scale mobilization" of religious resources to underwrite efforts of Negro community-action groups.

To start the process, his own church's governing convention here is considering a proposal for shifting $3 million annually from usual church programs to back urban projects for Negroes.

Meanwhile, bishops yesterday swept aside objections to the seating of a nonconformist colleague, Rt. Rev. James A. Pike.

The action "showed a progressive openness on the part of the bishops," said Bishop Ivol I. Curtis of Seattle.

It also gave a possible clue to the mood of the church in acting on a pending document that would strongly uphold freedom of doctrinal inquiry, and call for changes in canons virtually blocking heresy trials.

Dirksen Comes To LBJ's Side In Peace Feud

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A liberal Democrat's claim that President Johnson torpedoed a hopeful Vietnam peace move last February gives new ammunition for Republican "credibility gap" charges against the administration.

Harry S. Ashmore, former Arkansas editor, said State Department officials dealt with him and Editor William C. Baggs of the Miami, Fla., News with "an almost total absence of candor" in the affair. This matched GOP descriptions of the administration's general performance in Vietnam statements.

LBJ DEFENDED

But most politicians seemed to regard Ashmore's charge that Johnson "effectively and brutally canceled" a promising attempt to start peace talks as likely to leave only a minor abrasion on the image Johnson has labored to build as a man willing to negotiate at the drop of a hat to end the war.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, defending the President, made it difficult for even the Republican doves to suggest Johnson doesn't really want peace unless Hanoi surrenders.

DIRKSEN TALKS

Dirksen told newsmen he could not conceive of any circumstances under which the President wouldn't make "every possible effort to stop the killing" in Vietnam. He suggested that Ashmore's charge bore the "taint" of those who seek in search a peace candidate for president.

Ashmore classified himself among the vigorous war policy critics when he identified himself with "the eclipsed Adlai Stevenson wing of the Democratic party" and as a confidante of Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Fictitious Hotel Registering Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The San Francisco supervisors yesterday approved an ordinance which would make it a misdemeanor to register in a hotel under an assumed name.

The ordinance would even affect celebrities who use fictitious names to conceal their presence.

Reagan Rules Out Any Drives To Boom Presidential Stock

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan ruled out today the creation of a Reagan-for-President campaign organization before the 1968 Republican national convention.

But he disclosed he will set up machinery in California to handle the June presidential primary campaign for the favorite son delegation he intends to lead to the convention.

Reagan was interviewed in his Capitol office by the Associated Press less than two weeks before he leaves on a three-state speaking tour in which he plans to discuss Vietnam and domestic issues.

He pondered each question about the presidency carefully. Asked if he could see any circumstance that would force the convention to turn to him, Reagan, the determined non-candidate, said "there is no way I can answer that question."

He protested that any answer short of a flat "no" would be taken as a declaration of candidacy. He reiterated, however, he is not a candidate for president.

And he said he will not begin the pre-convention political work of campaigning in primaries or rounding up delegates at state conventions.

Asked if he would "rule out" formation of such an organization before the GOP convention in Miami Beach, Reagan said "yes."

He also said he didn't believe he would be drafted.

Reagan reiterated he will not campaign in Oregon, Nebraska and Wisconsin, states where his name is expected to be on the open primary ballot.

Over and over again, Reagan said he is not a candidate for the nation's highest office. But, for the first time, he said "I'm aware of the talk that's been going on" about the possibility of him becoming a candidate.

Canterbury Thinks Pike Is No 'Profound Thinker'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Archbishop of Canterbury spun a few candid tales for newsmen yesterday on such subjects as California's controversial Bishop James Pike, the war in Vietnam and San Francisco's hippies.

Most Reverend and Right Honorable Dr. Arthur Michael Ramsey, primate of the Church of England, held a news conference at San Francisco International Airport upon his arrival here for a three-day visit.

The ruddy-faced clergyman said he regretted attempts to prosecute Bishop Pike for heresy because he had read most of Pike's works and found them to be "superficial stuff."

"He's not a profound thinker or a great scholar," said Dr. Ramsey, who added the heresy charge against Pike "advertises the man and his work and gives it an importance it doesn't deserve."

The 62-year-old prelate said he could understand "the notives which led America into the war" in Vietnam but said there would be no winning because victory would require a "vast holocaust."

Dr. Ramsey said he had no plans to visit San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury District, but he expressed interest in the "new imaginative cult" represented by the hippies.

He said he finds in it "an instance of the dissatisfaction of young people toward the authoritarian view of life."

The archbishop arrived 45 minutes late from the Nevada gambling center of Las Vegas, prompting one newsman to ask if he had any luck there.

"I understand I converted quite a few people," Dr. Ramsey replied.

PARK EXPANDS BY 23-ACRE GIFT OF LAND

The City of San Rafael last night added 23 acres to Victor Jones Park in Glenwood — free.

The land, a steep hillside adjoining the park, was offered as a gift to the city by Perma-Bilt Corp., which is building homes in the area.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. recalled that when the city was buying land for Victor Jones Park, a price of $6,000 an acre was asked for the hillside.

Acceptance, with thanks, was unanimous.

Bret Harte Gets Drainage Promise

Bret Harte residents will get attention to their flood problem before the City of San Rafael spends money on new traffic signals or puts it away to replace fire-fighting equipment.

That assurance was given a Bret Harte delegation last night by the city council as it rejected a list of capital outlay priorities submitted by City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen.

NOT IN BUDGET

There was nothing for Bret Harte drainage on the list. Last year, the city budgeted $105,000 toward the flood problem in the area, but the money was not spent as sales tax and building permit revenues fell below expectations. For fiscal '68, nothing toward the project was included in the budget.

On Andersen's proposed priority list were $65,000 for traffic signals, $40,000 to start a fund for replacement of fire equipment, among other items.

"Perhaps we could delay these for a year and dry up some of those basements in parts of Bret Harte," suggested Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

Andersen recalled that a proposed million-dollar drainage project for Bret Harte, to be financed by an assessment district, was killed by protests several years ago. In view of that, he said, "I don't think it is fair for all the people in San Rafael to pay for correcting their problems."

Councilmen immediately took issue with this, however.

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles said "phase two" of Bret Harte darainage would total $175,000 to $200,000. Lines down Irwin Street and across Bret Street to connect with pump and drainage basin installed year before last near the Northwestern Pacific Railroad would be "the biggest help," though, he said, and should cost about $125,000.

TIME ELEMENT

Queried by Councilman John A. Miskimen, Rawles said engineering for the project, "with outside help," would take about 45 days, and winter rains would arrive before work could be done.

Jensen urged that the contract be let as soon as possible anyhow. Councilman Louis H. Baar agreed.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini directed Rawles to get a firmer estimate of costs and timing "so we can readjust our capital outlay" at the Oct. 2 council meeting.

The Bret Harte delegation thanked the council and went home.

Sewer Woes Lead To $20,000 Survey Order

A survey of San Rafael's sanitary sewer needs was ordered last night by the city council.

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles was authorized to engage an outside engineer, at up to $20,000, to make the survey. He said he had Dominic J. Selmi, former city engineer now with Dan Coleman Associates, in mind for the job.

San Rafael has been plagued each winter by storm water getting into sanitary sewer lines and forcing sewage out through manholes and catch basins onto the streets in various locations. County Sanitarian William Desmond last year called on the city to do something about it. The $20,000 for a survey was included in the fiscal '68 budget.

As the council voted unanimously to authorize the survey, Mayor C. Paul Bettini told Rawles: "You should post-haste get on this."

The San Rafael City Council Also:

ORDINANCE — Split 3-2 in introducing an amendment to city ordinance governing pawnbrokers and second-hand sales to require articles be held only 10 days before resale instead of 30 days. The period is to permit the police to check into possible stolen articles. Councilmen Fred E. Jensen and Louis H. Baar opposed the change, fearing it would be used by pawnbrokers to get around the state-required minimum 30-day loan redemption period.

COMMISSION ORDINANCES — Held over ordinances governing fire commission, library board, and parks and recreation commission, designed to implement charter changes voted by the people in April. Councilman Harry A. Barbier said the three boards were not satisfied with the way the ordinances were drawn.

BOARD OF APPEALS — Introduced an ordinance reducing membership of the board examiners and appeals from seven to five. Chief Building Inspector Jack Coates said it is impossible to get a quorum of the seven-member commission. Feeling some members would like to resign, Mayor Bettini asked that anyone interested in serving on the board notify the council.

PARKING LIMIT — Limited parking to two hours on East Francisco Boulevard from Bellam Boulevard to Grand Avenue, City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said he had recived "innumerable letters" from merchants on the street complaining of all-day parkers.

SUBDIVISION — Abolished a one-foot non-access strip to make possible the three-lot White Oaks Estates subdivision off Maywood Way in Rafael Highlands.

ANNEXATION — Set for Oct. 2 public hearing on annexation of properties on Summit Avenue.

AUTO SHOW — Granted Radio KTIM permission to close B Street between Julia Street and Fifth Avenue on Oct. 21 and 22 for the "1968 Auto Showoffs."

PROMOTION — Promoted Peter Zunino from groundsman to gardener.

EXTRA HELP — Granted the public works department a half-time clerk-typist. One of two clerk-typists in the department was moved to the recreation department in July in a cutback of office personnel.

BRUSHWOOD LANE — Authorized disclaimer of city interest in Brushwood Lane, an unaccepted street above Picnic Valley.

RECREATION — Approved agreement with San Rafael City Schools for the two school districts to contribute $24,291 to the city recreation program.

CONFERENCE — Authorized Andersen to attend the Internation City Managers Association conference Oct. 8-12 in New Orleans.

IN MEMORIUM —Adjourned in memory of Mrs. Marie Jensen, mother of Councilman Jensen. The councilman's mother died yesterday morning.

Car Booby Trap Nearly Kills Two

MONTEREY PARK (AP) — Police are searching today for the person who blew up a car yesterday, critically injuring a gas station manager and his female companion.

Joseph L. Detherage, 35, and Cecilia Chagolla Attanasio, 20, both of this Los Angeles suburb, remained in critical condition today after surgery at Garfield Hospital.

Officers said they spoke to the woman's estranged husband, Louis Attanasio, 33, of Alhambra, but had no immediate plans to question him.

The victims were thrown into the street by the blast, which knocked the flaming convertible nearly 600 feet down the road. Officers said parts of a timing device were found in the wreckage.

Middle School Philosophy To Be Explored

A second meeting on the middle school philosophy and Reedland Woods School planning will be held tonight by Reed School District trustees to inform and involve the community in planning, Supt. H. Joseph Edgington announced today.

A middle school conference was also held in August.

The meeting will be at Del Mar School at 8 p.m.

Edgington and Del Mar School Principal Robert A. Gaw will lead the discussion. Ron Young, architect for the new school, will also be present.

The regular meeting of the Reed School board has been postponed to Thursday at 8 p.m. at Del Mar, because of this special session.

Armed Robbery Trial Date Set

Jury trial of Brian Moore, 29, accused of armed robbery, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the week of Oct 9.

Moore, of 1551 Fourth Street, San Rafael, is accused of robbing Jack Carney, employee at Dave's Lounge in San Rafael, at knifepoint May 12.

Hot Summer Kills

TOKYO (UPI)—The longest and hottest summer in Japan in decades claimed 2,600 lives in the rivers and sea, on the mountains and on the highways, a police report said today.

Tax Limit Goes On City's Ballot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An initiative measure which would limit San Francisco's property tax to $6.15 per $100 assessed valuation has qualified for the Nov. 7 ballot, Registrar of Voters Basil Healey said yesterday.

The present tax rate is $8.80 of which $5.84 is the city's share the rest going for schools, air pollution control and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

If approved, the measure would not affect the school, pollution and transit rates.

Healey said the initiative had more than the legally required number of signatures.

Worthless Check Arraignment Held

John Edward Greisen, 26, of Wilkins Hotel, San Rafael, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony complaint of possession of a check with intent to defraud, and forgery.

Plea entry was scheduled for this afternoon. Griesen is accused of having the worthless check in San Rafael yesterday, and with forging a $20 check Sunday with intent to defraud Winton's News and Liquors in San Rafael.

Japan, the No. 1 customer for U.S. soybeans, is expected to buy about 60 million bushels of the crop in 1967.

There were 10,000 mail-carrying passenger trains in this country in 1930, compared to only 850 at present.

100,000 Mathematicians

Sandra Nelson, Judy McCure, and Carolyn Gindele are responsible for more calculations in a minute than Pythagoras made in a lifetime.

These ladies are mathematicians for El Paso Natural Gas Company. They design "programs" to make maximum use of the high potentials of modern electronic computers. Their programs make it possible for the computers, in a few minutes, to complete the mathematics of designing a new pipeline system or calculate the taxes to be paid to communities, states, and the federal government or to predict the volumes of gas to be needed in the future. By using these computers to the fullest, Sandra, Judy, and Carolyn become the equivalent of, say, 100,000 mathematicians of a generation ago.

These ladies supply the brainpower; the computers do the mechanical work. Sandra, Judy, and Carolyn's great competence — along with that of the other 5,400 employees of El Paso Natural Gas Company whose skills range from accounting through geology to mathematics — are among the reasons that California has pipeline rates that are among the lowest in the nation.*

EL PASO NATURAL GAS COMPANY

*Federal Power Commission figures show that Los Angeles and San Francisco-Oakland enjoy the lowest wholesale gas prices of any of the 14 largest metropolitan areas in the nation. El Paso Natural's rates are the lowest of the three pipelines bringing gas to the state. All communities in California, regardless of size, enjoy the benefits of these low rates.

TRAINS

ed to Tiburon and dog-legged from there to Sausalito will hereafter travel around the north end of the bay to Schellville, then south through San Rafael.

The first freight through San Rafael, a week from tomorrow will not provide quite the first look at a train since '61 for residents along the right-of-way. A few work cars have run through town during the repair project. Yesterday NWP ran a crane up the track to the south end of the tunnel. Sometime within the next four or five days, a ballast train will dump sand along the tracks.

An announcement from Charles W. Neal, NWP vice president-general manager, today warned commuters who have been parking all day on the tracks near the San Rafael Greyhound Bus depot, that cars cannot be left there hereafter.

Neal's announcement said company representatives have been calling house-to-house at business buildings and residences along the right-of-way to warn of the resumption of trains.

Motorists in San Rafael have become accustomed over the past six years to ignoring the railroad signals, since they have been inoperative. An NWP spokesman said a flagman probably will be stationed at the Tamalpais Avenue crossing of Secon Street whenever a train passes through, at least for a time. He warned motorists to "watch for the signals."

San Rafael police will cooperate in patrolling the crossings while residents become re-accustomed to having trains, said Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa.

Volume of rail traffic will not be great. About one train a day is expected on the average, said a Southern Pacific spokesman.

Train service through San Rafael stopped abruptly six years ago last July 20 when the tunnel caught fire after two boys had started a blaze inside it. Alto fireman Frank Kinsler was killed as Lincoln Avenue fell into the tunnel, swallowing him and his truck.

A few weeks later, Northwestern Pacific applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to abandon the line.

The City of San Rafael immediately opposed the application. Joined by Marin County and a few rail shippers, it fought the closure through two ICC hearings and through the federal courts, winning each time.

However, after the railroad exhausted all possibilities in a court battle that lasted nearly five years, there was still no date set for restoration of service. That was when the California PUC stepped in to place a deadline.

Now, four deadlines later, the trains will roll again through San Rafael.

Spare Tire Stolen

John Warren Kaufman, 1761 Mar West Street, Tiburon, reported yesterday to sheriff's deputies that someone stole a spare tire from the trunk of his sports car at a time and date unknown.

Texans Flee Approaching Hurricane

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Texans by the thousands fled before the 130 mile-an-hour wrath of growing Hurricane Beulah today and the big storm hewed to a line straight toward the mouth of the Rio Grande.

The Weather Bureau said the storm was picking up speed and strength. Hurricane warnings were out for miles of coastline, extending as far as Port Aransas, Tex.

Aside from the possibility of death from its winds, Beulah poised a $20 million killer blow toward crops in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas. State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said $15 million in citrus and $5 million of other crops lay directly in the storm's path.

One death in Texas was blamed on Beulah even as she was some 190 miles from this tip-of-Texas city. A giant wave toppled Bridgette Laverne Anthony from her surfboard as she rode massive waves off Freeport, Tex.

The Coast Guard at Port Isabel, Tex., dispatched the 82-foot motor cutter Point Noell to sea to rescue the occupants of what a Coast Guard spokesman described as a "large motor vessel" floundering in the pitching Gulw of Mexico. Other details were not immediately available.

At Port Isabel some 3,000 persons fled the storm. The predicted high tides of 10 feet would close roads into the coastal fishing and resort city.

Marin Demo Groups Back Dove Slate

Marin Democratic Assembly and San Rafael Democratic Club members last night voted unanimously to support candidate in next year's Democratic national primary election who are pledged to end the Vietnamese war.

About 85 of the club's 200 members attended the meeting at Civic Center, reported president C. Roy Calder. The club is chartered by California Democratic Council.

The resolution voted last night was approved by CDC directors Sept. 10, and is aimed at support of a slate of convention delegates to oppose President Johnson.

The resolution supports "an immediate halt to the bombing of North Vietnam," and negotiations, "including all participants, to end the war. It also supports shifting defense expenditures to the war on poverty.

The club will send delegates to a state-wide CDC conference Sept. 30 at Long Beach to plan a slate of delegates to the 1968 Democratic national convention. The local delegates are Calder, David McConnell, C. C. Meredith, Ken Howard, Phillip Drath, Mike Ingerman, Mike Oster, Mrs. Frances Steadman, Dr. Leo Wagner, Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Franzblau.

Felony Forgery Plea Set Today

Plea entry for Cathie Louise Sullivan, 19, charged with six counts of felony forgery, was scheduled in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for this afternoon.

Miss Sullivan, of no known address, is accused of forging checks for amounts of $30 and $35 with intent to defraud Jolly Market and Lee Bros. Market in Novato during a period from Feb. 23 to March 1.

She was arrested by Novato police yesterday and arraigned yesterday afternoon.

CENTER

of the family rehabilitation center had good things to say about it today at what was scheduled to be its demise before the supervisors.

Chief Probation Officer Walter H. Busher, who has recommended that the center be phased out, and some of its role assigned to the juvenile court, said that he wanted to take part of the responsibility for failing to create an atmosphere in which the center could have functioned more successfully.

The basic idea behind the center was that it would treat both disturbed delinquents and their families without locked doors and other aspects of traditional institutionalization.

The Marin County Grand Jury was critical of the Family Rehabilitation Center in its interim report, declaring that the staff attitudes toward the youngsters are too permissive and that the project costs too much for the results obtained.

The Bay Area Social Planning Council has concurred with Busher and the grand jury that the FRC be closed.

But Busher, in presenting his recommendation to the board of supervisors today, said, "It is remarkable that the Family Rehabilitation Center succeeded as often as it failed, handling, without locks, youngsters who are routinely sent to state institutions."

Psychiatrist Philip S. Hicks, director of the center, told supervisors, "there is probably too much water under the bridge to save the center now even if anyone wanted to.

"I feel that it has been a unique, progressive and enlightened effort. It was not a clinical failure, rather it was a failure of the operational climate.

Three youngsters who were patients at the center spoke up for it. One, a teen-aged girl, said she was "one of the successes of the FRC," and added, "I was headed for Youth Authority and I can't see the reason for closing it. I am worried about the other kids. What will happen to them."

A man who identified himself as the father of a boy who is at the center, asked the supervisors to make adjustments in the center operation, but not to close it down.

"My child, like the other children there, is emotionally troubled. Those children could be extremely expensive to this county, or they could be very productive. Grand juries are critics but they are not trained critics. I agree with the grand jury when it noted in its report that its members are not knowledgable or expert about sociology."

Eva Citrin, clinical director of the center, said, "I'm surprised that we have done as well as we have with all the outside interference. We haven't been in existance long enough to evaluate the changes in the kids that will show up four of five years from now."

Eight In Novato Fire Board Race

Charles P. Davies, retired busines executive of 1790 Indian Valley Road, Novato, yesterday filed his papers as candidate for one of the two positions on the Novato Fire District board in the Nov. 7 election.

This brings to eight the nummer trying for the two seats. Filings closed at 5 p.m. yesterday.

Those running are Joseph Silviera, rancher, and Henry Alvernaz, radio operator for the county communications department, incumbents; Richard Price, steamship company bookkeeping accountant, of 1 Rowland Court; Victor L. Wright, retired Air Force lieutenant colonel, of 1137 Court Road; H. James Mumma, teacher, of 1440 Rosalia Drive; Harry Leff Jr., engineer, of 3 Nova Lane and Donald F. Donahue, theater owner, of 920 Grant Avenue.

A Gun-Firing Chase Ends In Suspension

A 39-year-old Marin County probation officer was today suspended following an incident last night involving a chase by a gun-firing San Rafael police officer.

No charges, however, had been filed by noon today against Joseph T. Joslin of 358 Grandview, Black Point who, said San Rafael police, was fired on as he fled from a house under coonstruction in Twelve Oak Hill Drive.

Police Officer David Vargo reported he was returning to his home at 6:30 p.m. yesterday when he saw two children and a man in the partly constructed house.

Vargo said that when he called on the man to stop, he started to run. Although the officer said he showed his badge and said he wanted to question him, the man ran faster.

The man, later identified as Joslin, jumped in his station wagon and Vargo drew his gun, firing and hitting a window in the vehicle.

After the wagon drove off, Vargo called his office which issued an all points bulletin and Joslin was stopped by Novato police on Highway 37 near the Black Point off ramp.

According to the San Rafael police report, Joslin was released after questioning.

Joslin, a probation officer attached to Juvenile Hall, has been suspended indefinitely, James Soetaert, director of probation services, said today.

He was named to the department in October 1964 after nearly six years with the probation office in San Diego County. He formerly spent 15 months with a private child care institution in Southern California.

allowed to charge "customary and reasonable" fees which they determine. Carl Mulder, director of the Office of Health Care Services, estimated earlier that some physicians collected as much as $110,000 the first 16 months Medi-Cal was in operation.

A spokesman for organized labor said there should be a special session of the legislature to straighten out the problem.

Clifton Fair, director of social insurance for the California AFL-CIO, said the legislative leadership should meet with representatives of the governor's office to plan the special session.

Hearing Set In Counterfeit Plot

Robert S. Basey of Sausalito and William J. Raleigh of San Francisco are scheduled for hearing before a United States commissioner at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in San Francisco on suspicion of attemtping to sell counterfeit money.

Basey, 36, of 390 Ebbtide Avenue, and Raleigh, 59, were arrested in San Francisco Sept. 12 after allegedly attempting to sell $75,000 in bogus bills made in Washington State. They are free on $3,000 bail each.

A request for an indictment may be presented to a federal grand jury meeting tomorrow, officials in the office of Commissioner Richard S. Goldsmith reported.

OBITUARIES

Marie Jensen Dies At 92

Eastern Star funeral service for Mrs. Marie Jensen, 92, mother of San Rafael City Councilman Fred E. Jensen, will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at Bates, Evans and Fehrensen funeral home in Sonoma.

Mrs. Jensen died early yesterday at Aldersly Danish Home in San Rafael, where she had resided the past four years.

She was born in Denmark, June 8, 1875, and came to the United State States when 17 years old.

She and her husband, Fred, a cattle dealer, resided in San Francisco until 1923, when they moved to Sonoma. He died in 1940.

Mrs. Jensen was a member of the Order of Eastern Star in Sonoma.

Surviving, besides her son, is a grandson, Robert Jensen of Sherman, Tex.

METTA CLAYTON

Mrs. Metta Clayton, 82, of 931 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, died early today in a local hospital after a brief illness.

Mrs. Clayton was born Dec. 11, 1884, in Murphysboro, Ill., and had resided in Marin since 1955.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Marydee Dersheimer of 421 Hickory Lane, San Rafael, and by two sisters Mrs. Lucy McCamant, Wichita, Kans. and Mrs. Charles Slagle, Albuquerque, N.M.; by a brother, William G. Kennedy, Arcadia, Los Angeles County; and by a a granddaughter.

Private service is planned at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Downtown Study On Agenda For Novato Council

The Novato City Council will review the report of the downtown study committee with committee members when it holds a special meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The report was submitted to the council at its last meeting for its study. The committee had held 13 meetings to compile views on what should be done with the business area.

The council will also hold a closed session to hear a report from City Mgr. J. Julien Baget on the eight oral examinations he conducted last Friday for the position of planning director.

The city received 41 applications for the position vacated by Robert Lagle. These were cut down to the top eight after a written examination. These were interviewed by Baget, Michael Wornum and John Castleman.

Vallejo Grandson To Address Group

Richard Emparan of Sonoma, a grandson of Gen. Mariano G. Vallejo, will speak at a meeting of the Marin County Historical Society tomorrow.

There of the meeting at 8 p.m. at the San Rafael Improvement Club will be "A Night with the Vallejos."

Mrs. Emparan, who once was in charge of Vallejo's hacienda in Sonoma County, also will speak at the meeting to which the seven members of the Vallejo family living in the area have been invited. Vallejo was Mexican soldier, pioneer and explorer in northern California.

CLEO McDONALD

Requiem mass for E-5 Cleo McDonald of the United States Army who died of a heart attack Wednesday in Munich, Germany, will be held at 10 a.m., tomorrow at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

ERNEST STEINER

Funeral for Ernst Steiner, retired Mill Valley accountant who fled Hitler's Germany in the 1930s, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Russell and Gooch morturay, Mill Valley. Burial will be private.

Seiner, 78, of 16 Oxford Avenue, died Sunday at a local hospital after a short illness.

Born in Germany, he left his homeland in the mid-1930s and went to Shanghai, China, where he worked as an accountant until he was interned when the Japanese conquered the city.

After World War II ended, Steiner emigrated to New York, where he settled until moving to Marin in 1956. He was an accountant for a San Francisco produce broker until his retirement.

He is survived by a son, Albrecht L. Steiner, and five grandchildren, all of Santa Rosa.

MATILDA WILSON

ROCHESTER, Mich. (AP) — Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, 83, a Dodge heiress, society matron and philanthropist, died today in a Brussels Red Cross hospital, according to word received here from the U.S. Embassy.

The cause of death was not disclosed immediately.

Mrs. Wilson, reputed to be one of the richest women in America, was married to auto pioneer John F. Dodge in 1907. He died in 1920 and in 1925 she remarried to Alfred G. Wilson, who died in 1962.

Mrs. Wilson and her second husband in 1957 donated their Meadow Brook Farms estate in Rochester and $2 million in cash to Michigan State University to establish Oakland University, which opened two years later. Total value of the gift was estimated at $10 million.

She has continued as a patron to Oakland and has been a frequent donor to the Detroit Public Library and Museum of Art.

Mrs. Wilson, born Matilda Rausch in Ontario, Canada, in 1883, served briefly as lieutenant governor of Michigan in 1940 and was a member of the state Board of Agriculture from 1932 to 1938.

She was an officer in the Salvation Army on the national level until her death and was active in the Presbyterian Church, serving as treasurer of the Michigan Synodical from 1921 to 1941.

CLARA SHORTRIDGE

Survivors of Clara May Shortridge, who died Sunday at her Tiburon home, are her two sisters, Gloria Shortridge of Tiburon, and Mrs. Mary-Alice Peltenburg of Napa. Mrs. Peltenburg's name was given incorrectly in yesterday's report of Miss Shortridge's death.

Funeral for Miss Shortridge, who lived at 538 Silverado Drive, will be at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley. The family prefers contributions to the St. Vincent De Paul Society.

Novato Educator Salaries Boosted

In a surprise and unscheduled move, the Novato Unified School District board last night increased the salaries of both the superintendent and deputy superintendent by more than $1,000 per year, board secretary Ruth Craig reported.

Supt. James G. Bunker's salary was increased from $23,350 to $24,700 and Deputy Supt. Ralph Giovanniello's salary from $19,250 to $20,300.

The board increased the top two men in the district although it had not scheduled it on the agenda of the meeting. The action came at the end of the meeting. The matter was raised by board member Dan H. Barber and acted on after brief discussion, according to Mrs. Craig.

Novato School District Board Also:

WATER — Approved contracts with the North Marin County Water District to install water connections at the Sinaloa Junior High School site for $11,543 and to the San Marin High School site for $10,806. The board also passed a resolution to grant the water district utility easements through those two school sites plus the San Marin Elementary School at 5 Ramon Way.

TURFING — Authorized $2,200 for turfing the Sinaloa Junior High School football field and $4,000 for top soil for the San Marin High School football field. It also approved $576 for undergrounding the telephone cables at the San Marin Elementary School site.

FUNDS — Approved a request by Gilbert R. Gurein, director of pupil personnel services, that he try to get research funds for a study on speech screening procedures for kindergarten.

PLAYGROUNDS — Approved the school district staff working with the recreation department on a program to develop city playground areas on the school property. This would be under an agreement whereby the schools would have exclusive use of them during school hours.

CONTINUATION — Heard a report from Asst. Supt. Paul Mobley that the new continuation high school has had 100 per cent attendance since it started in the new location at 856 Sweetser Avenue under Prin. Joseph Garguilo.

HIRED — Hired Renee Bilsborough for kindergarten at Loma Verde at $8,394 per year; Patricia Di Grazia for kindergarten at Lu Sutton at $7,560 per year; June Edwards for second grade at Pacheco at $8,160 per year; Peggy Fowlkes for second grade at Pacheco at $6,936 per year; Virginia Gill for librarian at $7,272 per year; Gertrude Lebrecht for speech therapist at $8,742 per year; Karen Mehrer for first grade at Marion at $6,936 per year and Alida Wilson for librarian part time at $1,780 per year.

SPECIAL — Adjourned to a special meeting at p. m. next Monday at the West Novato School to explain to the residents of the district why the board selected the site at Wilson Avenue and Vineyard Road for the future administration building.

Del Carlo Rejoins Gate Bridge Board

San Francisco supervisors yesterday appointed Daniel F. Del Carlo as one of the city's seven directors on the 14-member Board of Directors of Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

Del Carlo, secretary of the Building Trades Council, replaces the late Christopher D. McKeon. Del Carlo served on the district board 20 years before supervisors replaced him in 1962 with William Moskovitz, who remains on the board.

Reagan Says Some Papers Pen 'Wishes'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Ronald Reagan criticized the press today and said that sometimes newspapers "let their policies get in the way of objectivity and accuracy."

In the strongest statement the freshman governor has made about the press, Reagan said sometimes the information in newspapers "is what they wish it were instead of what it actually is."

One columnist, he said, "gave a first - hand account of my meeting with Gov. Johnson of Mississippi." Reagan said "I've never met Governor Johnson."

Reagan's remarks were prepared for a noontime speech to the United Press International Editors' Conference in San Francisco.

"You and I have one thing in common," Reagan told the assembly of editors. "We are custodians of a public trust."

"And your public trust is to see that unless we meet our responsibilities, or when we fail to, you are going to keep the people informed. And I think, by and large, down through the years, you have done just that."

But, Reagan said, "someplace along the line, there has been a loosening ... liberties are being taken...agencies of government at every level are seeking to perform their services more and more with less and less attention to the right of the people to know. And by the same token, there have been those in your profession who have violated their trust, their responsibility to keep the people informed."

Ross Trustees Agree To Hire Two Guards

Ross School District trustees last night agreed to spend $2,500 to hire two crossing guards for school children, if it is legal for the school district to do so.

But trustees made it clear that they regarded hiring of the guards during school opening and closing hours until spring as the responsibility of the Town of Ross, Superintendent Robert D. Gowan said.

The town has declined to hire crossing guards because town finances are in the red. Pupils' parents have requested the guards.

Gowan said he was checking today with the county counsel's office to find if it is possible under state law for a school district to spend money on crossing guards. Guards on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Bolinas and Lagunitas avenues were paid for last year by the town, he said.

Trustees heard a report from Gowan, saying there was generally favorable parent response to an experimental program placing mature kindergarten pupils in first grade classes.

Nine kindergarteners of a total of 42 attend first grade classes from 9 a.m. to noon (first grade classes run 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.). Gowan said that kindergarteners in the program will not then continue to second grade, but will gain extra first grade experience.

The Ross School District Board also:

PAY HIKE — Raised the pay of substitute teachers from $22.50 to $25 a day.

CUSTODIAN — Authorized Gowan to seek a third custodian for the school at a salary of $400 monthly.

GIFT — Accepted a gift of test tubes, flasks, outdated cloud chambers and other science equipment estimated to be worth $800 from the University of the Pacific School of Dentistry, San Francisco.

Rock Bands Set Benefit For Hall

Three rock bands will appear at the Irwin Street Warehouse, 502 Irwin Street, San Rafael, Friday and Saturday in benefit performances for the dance hall.

The Other Time and the Flaming Groovies will appear both nights, and the Morning Glory will play Saturday. The hours are from 8 p.m. to midnight and the age limit for patrons is 14 to 20 years of age.

There will be a light show each night and posters and handbills distributed to patrons.

$100,000 Asked For Broken Hip

A Mill Valley tavern and a chiropractor were sued for $100,000 damages yesterday in Marin Superior Court in the September 23, 1966, breaking of a woman's hip.

The victim, Mrs. Opal G. Riley, 66, of 2230 Oak Knoll Road, Novato, charges that Brother's Tavern, 8 Locust Avenue, negligently continued serving the chiropractor, J. J. Dieterich of 9 Locust Avenue, drinks although he was already intoxicated.

As a result of the negligence, Mrs. Riley states, Diederich caused her to fall to the floor, breaking the hip. She is now at University of California Hospital, San Francisco, according to her attorney, Lynn Alan White of San Francisco.

Teen-Ager Returns

John Charles Ferroni, 15, of 87 Ryan Avenue, Mill Valley, returned home early this morning, Mill Valley police reported. Ferroni had been missing from his home since Saturday night.

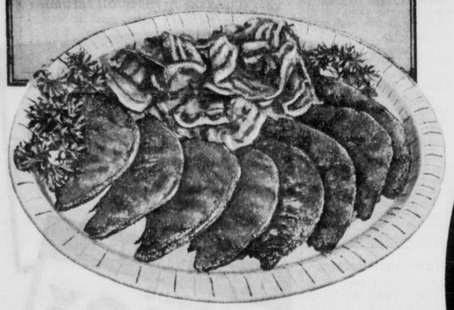
Liver & Bacon



"A Delicious Recipe . . . Petrini's Own Freshly Sliced Eastern Bacon . . . Bacon Like You Have Never Tasted . . . Buy Only The Amount You Need . . . You'll Be Pleased"

THE GOURMET By Petrini's Presents

—Liver and Bacon Roulade—

4 slices of liver (allow one slice per serving)
8 slices bacon
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup water or chicken stock
⅓ cup raw rice
1 tsp. chopped chives or green onions
2 tbls. melted butter

Cut bacon into small pieces and pan fry until crisp. Drain off all but 2 tablespoons bacon fat. Add rice, salt and water or chicken stock. Cover and cook 15 to 20 minutes. Stir in chives, let cool slightly and place ¼ of the rice mixture on each slice of liver. Roll up liver and rice, insert a toothpick to hold in place. Place liver rolls in a casserole; sprinkle with salt and pepper and melted butter. Bake in a 400 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes and serve. Serve with a Paul Masson Rose.

West's Only Maritime Academy

TAKE THE CONTROLS — Mark Weiner of Sacramento (left) and Joseph Conway of Burlingame, class of '69, get some practical experience at the controls of the Golden Bear.

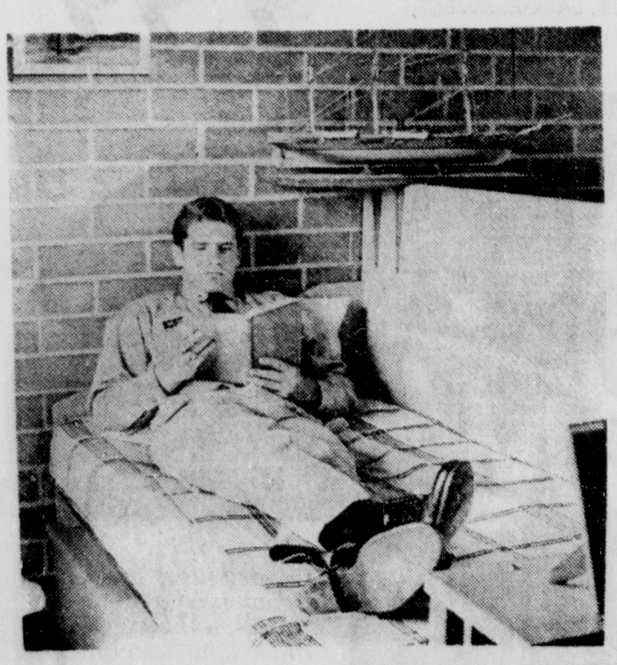
LEARNING THE SEXTANT — Fledgling deck officers, studying for a bachelor of science degree in nautical science, try to work out navigational problems with the use of a sextant.



SACK TIME—A middie stretches out on his bunk at Dwyer Hall. The rooms for two are modern, sparsely but attractively furnished. Ernest N. Kettenhofen of San Rafael serves on the academy's board of governors.

WATCHFUL EYE — Under the watchful eyes of Coast Guard crews, middies work out with heavy oars in a lifeboat. Instruction includes boat handing, sail and craft recovery.

LEARNING ROPES — Middies cluster around an instructor aboard the Golden Bear as he explains lifesaving gear. The ship is equipped with the latest equipment. (UPI Telephotos) fensive power because Russia has started installation of a small antimissile protective network around Moscow.

The "small" antimissile defense — at an outlay of a billion dollars a year over five years — will give the U.S. sufficient defense to repel any missile attack China might laungh by 1975, however, he said.

He admitted that even this installation would likely cause Russia to increase its nuclear offensive weapons, thus also adding to the arms race.

And U.S. and U.S.S.R. "have both built up our forces to a strength that far exceeds" what is needed, he said.

McNamara expressed hope that U.S.-Russian talks on nuclear arms control may produce a "realistic, reasonably riskless agreement."

If they do not, he said, "both we and the Soviets would be forced to follow a foolish course of action."

As to China, McNamara said it would be "insane and suicidal for her to attack the U.S., but one can conceive conditions" under which she might do so.

interspersed along the western and eastern seaboards, in the Midwest and in the Southwest and Deep South. Each site will be protected by a battery of Sprint missiles.

Government sources also indicated Canada has given the United States permission to establish one of the vital missile-detection radar sites on Canadian territory near the Great Lakes.

Nike X is a technological marvel of the 1960s which, according to Pentagon scientists, is far more advanced than the only other missile defense in existence, the Soviet ABM.

But as McNamara portrayed it, the ABM decision was made primarily to counter a hostile China in three to five years—not to match the Soviet Union's deployment of antimissiles.

The Pentagon chief said he still opposes the idea of trying to defend against an all-out, sophisticated Soviet missile attack with antimissile missiles.

He warned danger exists in deploying even a light missile defense that "pressures will develop to expand it into a heavy Soviet-oriented ABM system."

The Joint Chiefs of Staff have urged a wider deployment of an antimissile system to provide a general nationwide missile umbrella plus individual protection for 25 to 50 American cities.

Coroner Is Accused In Divorce Battle

Marin Coroner Donovan O. Cooke today was accused of adultery in a much-battled divorce suit between a well-known Belvedere couple.

The charge came in answers filed in Marin Superior Court by the defendant and cross-complainant, Michael Ainbinder, 57-year-old investor, to questions asked of him under oath Aug. 18 by the wife, Hildegard, 51, of 45 Harbor Oak Drive.

Ainbinder alleges in the answers that information that Dr. Cooke, physician of Mrs. Ainbinder for many years, indulged in adultery with her came from an investigation by a detective Ainbinder hired, Pat Buckman of San Francisco.

Ainbinder declined to state how the information was obtained by Buckman, and other details. Court records show that during a July 7 deposition of Dr. Cooke in the office of William B. Wolfson, attorney for Mrs. Ainbinder, Dr. Cooke refused to produce records of his medical treatment of Mrs. Ainbinder.

Mrs. Ainbinder's attorney, Albert Binachi, said today that she denies adultery with Dr. Cooke. "All we have is Mr. Ainbinder's say-so and nothing more," he said. "We certainly intend to investigate the charge and ascertain what he (Ainbinder) bases it on."

Dr. Cooke is out-of-town until Friday and could not be reached for comment.

The Ainbinders wed in Las Vegas, Nev., on Dec. 18, 1950, and separated over 14 years later on June 26, 1965. They have no children.

Mrs. Ainbinder filed suit for divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty July 12, 1965. He cross-filed for divorce on the same grounds Aug. 23, 1965. Further divorce proceedings are pending. No amended complaint has been filed by Ainbinder to include adultery charges in his grounds for a divorce.

Seven Competing For Water Board

There were severn candidates for three positions on the North Marin County Water Distirct board when filings closed at 5 p.m. yesterday.

Latest to file were Albert L. Gieleghem of 516 McClay Road, an employee of the state public utility commission and John M. Lane of 1 Rebecca Way, a civilian utility engineer at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The other candiates for the postitions on the Nov. 7 election are: Arnold E. Heise, incumbent, supervisor of gas for Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Francisco; Emil Renati, incumbent, a contractor; Franklin Gustafson, incumbent, rancher; George Amaroli of 11 Rebecca Way, employee of the state public utility commission and C. R. Fedrick of 1190 Seventh Street, contractor and rancher.

Poachers Get Away With Tiburon Deer

Mrs. James C. Phelps, 237 Round Hill Road, Tiburon, reported to sheriff's deputies at 12:28 p.m. yesterday that she had seen two men shoot a deer below her residence and haul it to a nearby house under construction.

Lt. William Johansen, reported he found animal entrails in a plastic bag near the building but could not find the deer carcass or the two suspects.

Crash Fatal To Former Fairfax Man

Charles J. Zimmerman, formerly of Fairfax, died early today of a skull fracture suffered when his car rolled and skidded for 200 feet along a highway in Fresno County.

Zimmerman was driving south in his small car when it swerved to the left, then to the right, overturned and began rolling down the highway, the California Highway Patrol reported from Fresno. The car came to rest on its top.

The accident occurred at 11:40 p.m. last night on two-lane Highway 33 about 12 miles south of Mendota, in western Fresno County.

Zimmerman, 22, was taken to Fresno General Hospital where he died at 1:50 a.m. Highway patrolmen said he was wearing a seat belt.

Zimmerman's latest Marin address was 15 Park Road, Fairfax. He had been employed since August, 1966, as an apprentice lineman for Pacifc Gas and Electric Co. in Fresno County and had resided in Mendota.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

No Session

The Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission did not meet last night when a quorum failed to show up for the meeting, according to Commissioner Edward W. Adams.

Early Mental Patient Release Is Criticized

State mental hospitals are releasing patients too soon and are suffering from excessive cuts in staff and severe overcrowding, Marinites Interested in the Mentally Ill reported last night.

The 28-member citizens group (MIMI) send observers once a month to Napa, Sonoma and Medocino state hospitals, the three serving Marin patients.

"You have to go to Sonoma and smell the smell to know how bad it is," said Mrs. Sutton Christian, director of Marin Association of Mental Health. More than 3,000 patients are housed in condemned buildings, and only 35 square feet is allowed for each cot in some dormitories.

Five physical therapists are authorized for Sonoma, but only one position is filled. There are maintenance men for only 32 of the 52 wards, Mrs. Christian said. Patients clean the remaining 20.

An increasing number of patients are being dismissed, she said, rather than coming out on "leave." An average of 100 patients are on leave in Marin.

Patients on leave get medication and counselling from local agencies, but dismissed patients do not, said Mrs. Christian.

Meeting Postponed

The meeting tomorrow of Corte Madera's Board of Adjustments has been postponed to 7:30 p.m. Sept. 27 in town hall, reported Elizabeth Long, board secretary.

Racing Board To Play Major Role In Expo Funding

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Forthcoming decisions by the three-man California horse racing board will play a major role in the California Exposition's "pay-as-you-go" financing operations, according to Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, state director of general services.

Cal Expo is asking a minimum annual race track rental of $66,300 in a bid notice issued last Saturday, but hopes for a substantially higher bid of the six-digit variety if the racing board approves a three-week thoroughbred meet scheduled in the late fall.

The additional meet, slated for Sept. 11-Oct. 2, following the traditional State Fair meet next year, would be run by private enterprise. The high bidder would lease the Cal Expo track and pay a percentage of gross receipts back to the exposition.

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 19, the 262nd day of 1967 with 103 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Saturn and Mars.

English illustrator Arthur Rackham was born on Sept. 19, 1867.

On this day in history:

In 1777, American soldiers won the first battle of Saratoga in the Revolutionary War.

In 1881, President James Garfield died in Elberon, N.J. He had been wounded by a disgruntled office seeker on July 2.

In 1960, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev received a cold reception when he arrived in the United States to attend the U.N. General Assembly.

A thought for the day—President Garfield said: "This nation is too great to look for mere revenge. But for the security of the future I would do everything."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

'There's No Such Play'—But It Really Can Win This Hand

Everybody knows the story of the woman who went to the zoo and turned her back on the rhinoceros.

"There's no such animal," she insisted.

Most bridge players have the same reaction to the key play in today's hand.

Opening lead — ♠ 2

South wins a finesse with the jack of spades and tries the club finesse, losing to the king.

Back comes a spade, but South has nine tricks: two spades, four hearts, one diamond and at least two clubs.

Don't snort "How can that be right?"

The fact is that it can hardly be wrong.

TAKES CLUB FINESSE

South won with the king of spades, lost a club finesse to the king and had to guess when Hardy returned a low spade.

Had West led from A-x-x or 10-x-x of spades?

South might have guessed right, but he actually assumed that Hardy would have played the ace if he could have.

On the theory that West had the ace of spades, South tried a finesse with the nine.

West won with the ten of spades and returned the suit. Hardy played the ace, at last, and defeated the contract with two more spades.

PLAY CAN'T LOSE

Hardy's play looks peculiar, but how can it lose?

If West has led from K-x-x or from J-x-x, the play of the queen is as good as the ace.

If West has led from 10-x-x, South is given the chance to guess wrong.

Hardy's play loses only if West has led from 10-x-x-x. This is unlikely beacuse South is unlikely to bid notrump with the doubleton K-J and beacuse West is likely to find a skimpy raise with four-card spade support and anything at all on the side.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer bids one spade, your partner bids notrump, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♥ Q 7 6 2
♦ A 10 5
♣ A J 9 3

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

This bid in the opponent's suit asks your partner to show a major suit if he can.

If your partner bids three hearts, you will raise to four. If he bids two notrump (denying four or more hearts), you will raise to three notrump.

Chief Orr Gets Council Backing

Fairfax Mayor George A. Pagni last night voiced "complete confidence" in Police Chief James R. Orr, who was arrested in San Rafael early Sunday on a citizen's charge of disturbing the peace.

The chief also was supported by the council during a closed meeting after the regular council session, Pagni reported.

Orr was booked at county jail after Richard D. Conn, operator of the Irwin Street Warehouse, a teen-age dance hall, at 502 Irwin Street, charged that the police chief used profane language in the presence of juveniles. Orr was to be arraigned in Municipal Court this afternoon.

At the open council session, Pagni said in view of the circumstances, he felt he should express his confidence in the chief.

He noted at that time that the council didn't have all "the particulars," about the incident, but would proceed to get them.

Then he called for the closed session at the close of the regular session, and the council talked to the chief about Conn's charges.

Fairfax Civic Center Bond Vote Postponed

Fairfax City Council voted last night to place its civic center bond election on the ballot at the municipal election next April instead of Nov. 14

The switch came after City Administrator David J. Sumbardo recommended a delay until Jan. 23 on the bonds to finance the civic center, estimated to cost $450,000.

Apparently the architect, Charles B. Stickney of Berkeley, won't have his design work done in time to have public hearings "and put together a campaign" by Nov. 14, Sumbardo said.

Councilman Robert R. Souza suggested that if the election were delayed it should be combined with the municipal election to save election costs.

Sumbardo estimated that a separate bond election would cost from $1,200 to $1,500, "but the longer you wait, the higher the construction costs" on the center.

Fairfax City Council Also:

DRUG BUREAU — Approved a proposed city-county agreement on operation of a countywide drug abuse bureau after Police Chief James R. Orr noted that the agreement won't take any powers away from the Fairfax police department.

TRAFFIC STUDY — Agreed "in principle" to join San Anselmo in a joint traffic study covering the main corridors, Center Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, with hope that cost, $3,500, can be obtained from state gasoline tax revenues because it hasn't been budgeted.

BUS FARES — Authorized Sumbardo to send a letter to the Public Utilities Commission protesting Greyhound Bus Lines' bid to boost commuter fares.

UNDERGROUNDING GROUP — Appointed to the city's Underground Utilities Committee Mrs. Walter E. Olson, 78 Mountain View Road; Ray Arbini, 121 Manor Road, Robert F. Raab, 89 Frustruck Avenue, and Planning Commissioners Ross Parkerson and Hugh Winn.

JOBS COMPLETED — Accepted as complete restoration of the slide area on Upper Cypress Drive, which cost $25,826, and construction of Fairfax tennis courts, at a cost of $12,900 to the city and $700 to the Fairfax School District.

ABATEMENT NOTICE — Authorized City Atty. Wallace Myers to file abatement proceedings against two dwellings at 92 and 96 Forest Avenue.

POLICE CARE — Passed a resolution authorizing the state to purchase a four-door sedan for the city.

SPECIAL DAYS —Proclaimed Oct. 24 as United Nations Day and the week of Oct. 8-14 City and County Government Week.

CITIES MEET —Approved the allocation of expenses for a League of California Cities conference, Oct. 15-18, of up to $100 per council member. Arrigoni said he wouldn't be able to attend.

STUDENT DAY — Received word from Mayor Pagni that students will attend the Oct. 9 council session, which will be Student Government Day.

Ex-Engineer Dies Of Gun Wound

Edward S. Atwood walked onto the porch of his Fairfax home last night with a revolver in his hand, fired a shot into the ground, apparently to check that the gun was working, then shot himself in the chest in view of at least four neighbors.

Fairfax firemen called to the home at 20 Summer Avenue, found Atwood still alive. But Dr. Bernard J. Doyle of San Francisco, who happened to be in the vicinity, pronounced him dead at 8:35 p.m., about 10 minutes after he shot himself in the left chest.

Atwood, 52, was unemployed. Assistant County Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine reported, but had worked as a boiler engineer at Marin General Hospital.

Atwood left a note expressing depression, Fontaine said. He had telephoned his only known relative, his sister, Mrs. Dorothy Bourliss in Weathersfield, Conn., shortly before shooting himself, Fontaine said. She phoned back about 8:45 p.m. to be told by Fairfax police that Atwood was dead.

Neighbors Mr. and Mrs. James D. McBride Sr. of 9 Summer Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Ewell, 19 Summer Avenue, told authorities that they had seen Atwood put the gun to his chest and pull the trigger, Fontaine said. The gun was a .38-caliber revolver.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Fairfax Firm On Policy Of Awaiting General Plan

By FRANK FARRARA

Fairfax city councilmen officially postponed discussion of policy on commercial development last night, but nevertheless the matter set off sparks.

There was sharp debate before the council voted 3-2 to deny an application by James Johnson for a special use permit for a medical office building at 1732 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

DISSENTERS

Councilmen Robert R. Souza and Frank J. Egger dissented on the denial.

The council policy has been to place a moratorium on downtown development until the county planning staff completes its general plan for th city.

Mayor George A. Pagni noted that the county planners recommended that the site be zoned residential with density ranging from 2.5 to 4.5 dwelling units per acre.

Council Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said he was "amazed" at Souza's approach since it would be only "three to four months" before adoption of the general plan.

Souza said it wasn't the intent of the moratorium to "come to a standstill," and that the council should consider "the best use of the land in terms of what is best for the community."

MEDICAL NEEDS

During the discussion, it was noted that the city needs a medical facility.

It also was reported that the proposed building and parking lot would require extensive grading on a prominent hill at the entrance to the city.

A motion by Souza to send the plan back to the planning commission was defeated 3-2, and a motion by Egger to grant the permit died for lack of a second.

The land is zoned commercial, but under the moratorium, a special use permit is required for any development.

At the start of the session, Arrigoni sharply criticized Souza for giving his "report" on commercial development to the Independent-Journal last week "in writing" when he didn't provide a report in writing to the council.

Souza denied that he gave a report to the Independent-Journal in writing, and said that he gave the information to a reporter by telephone.

Arrigoni said he felt that the council should have received the report in writing "as a courtesy."

VERBAL BATTLE

The question of future development of Fairfax last week touched off a bitter verbal battle between Arigoni and Mrs. Antoinette Ghiringhelli of 365 Bolinas Road. That incident was closed on a quiet note last night with the reading of a letter from Mrs. Ghiringhelli that opinions of citizens be accepted with dignity and a pledge by Mayor Pagni to maintain order at council sessions.

The council postponed its scheduled discussion on commercial development until its Oct. 9 meeting at 8 p.m. at the Fairfax Women's Club.

City Engineer Problem In Fairfax

The Fairfax City Council came under fire last night when it grappled with the problem of replacing City Engineer Richard J. Nelson, who has resigned effective Sept. 29.

Leo Cronin, chairman of the Fairfax Planning Commission, said: "Nelson should be given a hand for quitting such a cheap-skate outfit."

He said that it will cost the city more to "get three people to wear the three hats" Nelson was wearing as city engineer, building inspector and public works director.

In an economy move in July, the council cut Nelson's pay raise from 5 per cent to 2.5 per cent. When he announced his resignation, Nelson said it was in no way connected with the economy moves.

The council voted last night 4-1 to hire a full-time building inspector at a salary range of $644 to $782 a month, with Councilman Robert R. Souza dissenting.

Cronin charged "that because of an anonymous, insidious letter, certain members of the city council rolled over and went for the economy program."

The council also agreed that the city should contract with an engineering firm for services, and authorized City Administrator David J. Sumbardo to notify firms.

Councilmen Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said the key to the economy question is how much residents are willing to pay for services and whether the majority want to maintain a high level of services or want to curtail services.

Arrigoni and Councilman Adelaide Wilson presented a report on economy in city government which will be discussed by the council Oct.

Most Americans stay close to home, a survey of travel habits has shown. Fifty-two per cent have never taken a trip of more than 200 miles.

Teen-Ager Held On Hypodermic

Dennis Max Bowen, 19, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a misdemeanor complaint of having a hypodermic needle for using narcotics in his possession.

Plea entry was scheduled for this afternoon. Bowen, of 1847½ Center Road, Novato, was arrested early yesterday by Novato police after neighbors said narcotics apparently were being used at Bowen's home.

A 17-year-old companion of Bowen's thought to be under the influence of drugs, was treated at Novato General Hospital and released to his parents.

Auto Theft Case To Juvenile Court

Case of Richard Kamada Watts, 20, charged with auto theft, was certified to Juvenile Court yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Watts, of San Francisco, allegedly took the car of Phillip Borgeson in San Rafael Aug. 20. Police said the vehicle was taken to the 500 block of Deer Park Road and stripped.

BACK AT her position as a psychiatric social worker with the Family Service Agency of Marin is Audrey Dreyfus, who with her husband, Peter, has returned from a five months' vacation in France. Although she left Mill Valley aboard a French freighter, with no plans other than a tourist, Mrs. Dreyfus found investigating social work in French irresistible. (Independent-Journal photo)

A BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY

French Vacation For Social Worker

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A five month's vacation in France and on French freighters turned out to be a busman's holiday for Audrey Dreyfus, a psychiatric social worker with the Family Service Agency of Marin for the past three years.

When she and her husband, Peter, a retired building contractor, left Mill Valley March 1 aboard a French freighter, she had no plans other than those of a tourist, but she found investigating social work in France irresistible.

"THE TRIPS ON the French freighters were a wonderful way to begin and end by relaxing," Audrey said, "and also to break into French eating habits and using the language again.

"When we arrived in Paris, I found I was interested in looking into French families and the way they live and how social workers handle problems," said Audrey, who holds a B.A. degree in psychology from San Francisco State College and a master of social work degree from the University of California.

"I learned that the title psychiatric social worker doesn't have the same meaning to the French as it does to us. In France the usual social work training is geared to the physical well being of families, with primary interest centered, until recently, in maternal and child care.

"THEY TAKE STRONG interest in pre and post natal care, more from the child's point of view, and how the whole family affects the child. This is changing, and they are now sending people to be trained over here.

"The French used to live in the same place all their lives in large families with many relatives to go to with family problems and help with children. Now with increasing mechanization, leisure and mobility they are having the same kind of relocation problems as in America. In order to use their training, they may have to move 350 miles away, and they are turning a little more to social agencies for help with these problems."

Audrey said a tremendous revolution has been caused in France by the birth control pills, which have created a lot of difficulties for people in terms of the church. There is now widespread use of the pill, she said, and the law, as a result of a "fait accompli," had to be changed. While the Dreyfuses were in Paris the law was changed so that doctors may prescribe and pharmacies supply the pills.

Before going on to describe other experiences Audrey conceded that what she saw in Paris might not be representative of the whole of France.

"I VISITED ONE HOME for unwed mothers that I have never seen anything like in America," she said. "It is a place where these working mothers live with their children, paying according to what they earn. In America there is pressure to give up the children for adoption, since there's no provision like this after the child is born.

"These children go to public school with children from all social levels, and they are not made to feel different. The home was set up by a private agency, not government, and is administered by a trained social worker."

Audrey was also impressed by a private group home in the Paris suburbs for boys from 16 to 21, who for many reasons had to leave home and go to work. It was run by a family and trained social worker and his wife who lived in.

"The boys had built their own recreation room like a discotheque with things they had scrounged," she recalled, "and they were so well behaved that they were well accepted in this upper class neighborhood.

"THEY WERE APPALLED that I should even raise the question of the use of alcohol and drugs among teen-agers. They have wine and beer with meals and soft drinks, and there's a growing interest in sports and body building," she noted.

"There are homes like this provided by the government," she added, "but the need for the private home was felt since no matter how hard they try to make a government home warm and friendly, the children would feel institutionalized.

"I don't know whether they have anything like this home for young girls," Audrey commented.

Of exceptional interest to Audrey was an organization for mental health set up as a pilot project in the 13th Arrondissement of Paris.

"THIS IS A COMMUNITY center for mental health which works with the whole family instead of focusing on the child and maternal care," she said. "It has a psychiatrist, psychologist and social worker, who go out into the community and visit

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Yearning Wants Pierced Ears But Daddy Has Set Age Limit

DEAR HELEN:

For ever so long I have wanted pierced ears. A few months ago my sister got her's done, without my father knowing it. But she's 20, so he didn't say much.

Now he says all us girls have to wait till we're 20. It isn't the money, as my sister is a nurse and she could do it for me — and anyway I'd pay for it and my earrings, from my own money.

Don't say to get the "pierced look" because they aren't the same.

My friends are all having their ears pierced now. How can I convince my Dad that 20 is too long to wait? — YEARNING

DEAR YEARNING:

Best way to convince your father is: keep quiet and let your mother do the persuading.

Perhaps he'll stop seeing pierced ears as misplaced navels by your next birthday . . . And perhaps by then you'll no longer want them.

One caution: before the deed is done, have the doctor check you for possible metal allergies. Who knows? You might break out in a rash each time you put on an earring. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm 16, strong and healthy, but Helen, I look like a Twiggy who has lost her baby fat. Everybody says I'm lucky, and besides I'll gain once I get married. Must I wait that long? And what kind of clothes will give me more of a figure? — SKINNY

DEAR SKINNY:

If you knew how envious your chubby sisters are of you Twiggy-types, you'd stop worrying. The "starved look" is in, and most fashion models almost starve to achieve it. Stop worrying, but do drink a glass of rich milk after (not before) all three of your daily squares.

Your clothes? Those wild horizontal stripes are made for you. So is anything swingy. Above all, don't try to hide your thinness with clothes that are too-large. Choose a size smaller than you usually wear and I'll bet you discover a figure that will surprise you. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My stepfather has always been good to my mother and us two girls. But lately I'm getting scared to be alone with him. I don't know how to say it because I'm not sure how he means it, but he just won't leave me alone. He only acts this way when my mother isn't home, and once he said I shouldn't tell her, as she is jealous of his "fatherly" love.

I don't think it's very "fatherly," neither does my sister, but we can't tell our mother. She loves him very much. Besides, maybe we are wrong. What should we do? — PUZZLED AND SCARED

DEAR PUZZLED AND SCARED:

If your stepfather says you shouldn't tell — his affection is not completely "fatherly," and you have a right to be worried.

Let him know a stepdaughter must be liked from a distance, and if he doesn't agree, you'll take it up with your mother.

The best way to settle this sort of problem is with an open discussion about a girl's privacy — which warns the man and alerts the mother without making nasty accusations. — H.

VACATION

homes without waiting for referrals. Of course, the police are in the picture.

"There's a social worker at the city hall, who seems to be more like a social security officer, giving lots more social services with lots more red tape. She serves everyone, not just the poor classes. While I was there an upper class woman came in for a consultation in connection with her sister's death.

"A very unsual part of the program at the mental health center," she went on, "was the meeting they have every Thursday night attended by all patients about to be hospitalized, those who are hospitalized but well enough to leave, parents who have been discharged —and even the families and friends of all these people.

"The problems of each patient are discussed by the entire group who are regarded as consultants under the guidance of the psychiatrist and social worker, and I'm sure the medical staff had every intention of considering their suggestions.

"It was hard to tell who was a patient and who wasn't. So far as I know this was unique, and I think it is very good.

"ONE THING WAS upsetting to me, since we are so confidential about everything. The proceedings were being televised. Beforehand they explained what was going on, and two got up and left.

"Maybe it's better to take a look as this approach and not be so concerned about confidentiality. We say mental illness is no stigma, and yet we make it very hush hush. You can't have it both ways. The more you see, listen and participate, the less it frightens you."

Another difference Audrey encountered in the field of handling family relations was that the French don't automatically award custody of children in the case of divorce or separation to the mother, as the tendency is to do in this country, she reported.

On the whole, she concluded, France seems to be a very socialized country in terms of medical care, though possibly not so much as England.

AAUW Branch Plans Poolside Luncheon

The Mill Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women will have an informal luncheon around the pool at the Mill Valley home of Mrs. Robert Brown on Thursday from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The purpose is to acquaint prospective members with the program for the coming year and to introduce them to the chairmen of the special interest groups. This year's emphasis will be on the four topics "The Growing Gap Between the Rich and Poor Nations," "The Politics of Public Education," "Society's Reflection in the Arts," and "Testing Values in a Changing Society."

Membership chairman Mrs. Elgar Hill urges all graduates of accredited colleges and universities to call her for information. Mrs. Hill will be assisted by Mesdames William Broderick, James Culp and Rahn Ruedy, all of Mill Valley.

'High Flying Fashions' At Club Party

The Sausalito Woman's Club will entertain members and guests with a fashion show titled "High Flying Fashions" Thursday at 1:30 p.m. Dessert and coffee will be served afterward.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Robert Friedrich and Mrs. Henry Swart announce that this will be an all-Marin show with five local shops having their late styles modeled by Mesdames Robert N. Knutson, H. Gordon Douglas, William H. Spencer and Irving Igdaloff.

Glamorous evening wear, winter sport togs and hand knits will be shown. In a "Knit Skit" a little dog named Daisy, wearing a spangled knit outfit created especially for the occasion, will perform a dance routine.

"Greeters" and "servers" at the show will also be dressed in the modern manner.

Rummage Sale Set

The Women's Association of St. Luke Presbyterian Church, Bayside Acres, will hold its second annual rummage sale in the building formerly occupied by a nursery, on the corner of Fourth and Mary Sts., San Rafael, on Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Mrs. Wendell Reilly, president of the organization, has appointed Mrs. Raymond Mann as chairman.

Neighbors Woodcraft Conclave Will Open

The Neighbors of Woodcraft will hold its fourteenth district convention at Rancho Rafael in Ignacio tomorrow and Thursday.

Represented will be circles from San Francisco, San Jose, Santa Rosa, San Mateo, Redwood City and Eureka.

Dignitaries from N.O.W. Headquarters - Portland, Ore. and Bay Area circles will be present. Hostess Guardian Neighbor Dortha Douglas will open the session. Dr Charles B. Musante is general chairman for this convention.

A luncheon will be served at noon tomorrow and the banquet dinner will be held at 6:15 p.m. Thursday.

Marincello Topic For Sausalito District Meet

A new event for the Sausalito School District will be a parent information meeting tomorrow.

All district parents and other interested persons are invited to attend at 8 p.m. in the Bayside School auditorium.

David Freedheim, president of the School Board Trustees, will discuss the effect of Marincello on the District. He will also explain the use of present facilities and the building program.

Philip Schneider, school superintendent, will introduce new teachers and discuss means of communication between the parents and the schools.

Mrs. Amity Buxton, a parent and the curriculum co-ordinator for the Sausalito Teacher Education Project, will discuss STEP activities in the district. STEP is a teacher training program conducted by San Francisco State College in the Sausalito schools.

Tom Thumb Chapter Plans Starlight Dance Sept. 30

Tom Thumb Chapter of the Children's Home Society annual Starlight Dinner Dance is planned for Sept. 30 at Peacock Gap. Mrs. Ronald Bell, dance chairman, is coordinating the fund raising event which will be preceded by cocktail parties at member's homes for their guests followed by dinner and dancing.

Decorations chairman, Mrs. Harold Strouss, is busy instructing members in the art of making fall colored tissue flowers to enhance tables and the entrance way.

Mrs. Chester A. MacPhee Jr., president of the chapter, and Mrs. Bell will greet guests at the door. Other committee members are Mrs. Burt Richardson, invitations; Mrs. George Caesar, reservations and Mrs. Gerald Yaffee, prizes and awards.

Episcopal Women To Hear Talk By Institute Director

Episcopal Churchwomen of the Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley, will hear Daniel A. Meyerson, executive director of the Marin Institute of Alcoholism, at its first meeting of the season tomorrow at the church.

He will speak on 'Alcohol in Suburbia" following a business meeting and a service of Holy Communion which begins at 9:30 a.m. A sandwich luncheon will follow.

Meyerson, who helped to found the Alcoholism Institute here in 1964, came to Marin six years ago from New York City. He is a graduate of New York University and did graduate work there at the New School for Social Research.

Rummage Sale

The annual rummage sale of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Mill Valley Methodist Church will be held tomorrow through Friday at the Fellowship Hall of the Church at Camino Alto and Sycamore Ave., Mill Valley. POETRY — Agnes Moorehead will join poets and musicians in interpreting poetry at the "Celebration of the Poet" program beginning at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Mount Tamalpais amphitheater, and sponsored by the Atheneum Arts Foundation.

Judge Upholds Search Warrant In Drug Case

A Marin Municipal Court judge yesterday upheld validity of a search warrant resulting in charges that a trio of San Francisco hippies distilled mescaline and had marijuana in a Fairfax house June 7.

Judge Hadden W. Roth then scheduled preliminary hearing for the three, Gary Paul Davis, 23, and Michael Edgar Kerr and his wife, Barbara Irene Kerr, both 20, for 9:30 a.m. Nov. 17.

The trio, accused of the mescaline offense in a rented house at 79 Dominga Avenue, challenged validity of the warrant June 23. Davis also is accused of the marijuana possession, and the Kerrs with planting and cultivation of marijuana.

Officers said they found 40 gallons of mescaline, 100 pounds of peyote buttons, and a small quantity of marijuana in the house.

$100 Million Pledge For Low Income Housing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Low income families have a $100 million commitment today by the American Savings and Loan Associations of California to finance housing in depressed urban areas.

S. Mark Taper, president and chairman of the board, said yesterday he wired President Johnson that his group is "prepared to act immediately to assist those in California who need housing most."

He said there would be no geographical restrictions on the loans, so long as they are backed by either the Federal Housing Administration or the Veterans Administration.

"These funds would apply both to existing housing available for immediate occupancy as well as for new construction at normal market rates," Taper said.

Celebration Of The Poet Set Sunday

Poetry in words and music will be voiced during the Atheneum Arts Foundation "Celebration of the Poet" at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Mount Tamalpais amphitheater.

Actress Agnes Moorehead will read selections from her favorite poets and Brother Antoninus, Robert Duncan and Kenneth Rexroth will read from their works.

A prose poem "You have to Tell Everybody," by Madeline Gleason will be read by three persons. Poetry of Yeats, set to music by John Edmunds of San Francisco, will be sung by soprano Francesca Howe.

Fired Secretary On Gun Spree

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A pretty red-haired girl whom police said was a former mental patient was booked on two counts of attempted murder yesterday after a shooting spree on a downtown street.

The suspect was identified as Noel Gansz, 26, San Francisco, who told authorities she planned to kill her former employer, Architect Phil Gaunt of Walnut Creek. She said she was fired last week after working at Gaunt's firm as a secretary for one month.

Witnesses said she fired a .25 caliber revolver at Norman Harris of San Diego, barely missing him, and then shot and wounded Joseph Gluntz, 72, San Francisco, who was reading a book on a nearby bench. Gluntz was hospitalized with a stomach wound.

The American Philosophical Society, the first learned American academy, was founded in 1743 with the help of Benjamin Franklin.

Mill Valley To File A Bad Water Protest

Mlil Valley Mayor Albert E. White last night ordered a letter of protest about "putrid water" in Mill Valley sent to the Marin Municipal Water District.

It started with a discussion of city council policy on the water district's tanks, which the council prefers underground. White told Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon to "reiterate council policy" to the district

A woman in the audience asked "Will the tanks make the water taste any better?"

White, who has commented on the local water before, suggested complaints be taken to the water district board, but at the urging of councilmen told City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer to send the district a formal council protest.

Councilman George E. Wickham again sought to change the city's policy for appointing members of city boards and commissions, but again failed to move the council to action.

Wickham has objected to the mayor naming all board members as vacancies occur. He suggested that other councilmen name members to the bodies to which they are liaison members.

Such a policy would give "a wider variety of views" among appointees, he said, while having one man appoint everyone tends to produce a confomity of opinion.

It doesn't always work that way, ex-Mayor Wornum said. "The trouble is," Wornum said, "you appoint someone expecting he will represent your views . . . and find he bites the hand that fed him."

The council overrode protests by a minority of property owners to start annexation of an area along Sunnyacres Avenue, west of the city limits.

Protests were received from owners of approximately 28 per cent of the area. Two property owners, Richard Paul and Harry Haynes, made verbal protests at the meeting, Paul asking to be excluded from the annexation.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

DREDGING — Approved an agreement with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for the city to dredge a new creek canal at the Alto Electric substation. The dredging is part of the East Blithedale Avenue improvement project. The city will also remove a concrete abutment and trestle, using flood control funds.

PARK — Formally named Blithedale Park, as recommended by the parks and recreation commission.

RESIGNATION — Accepted resignation of Henry Horowitz from the library board. Horowitz is moving to New York.

TAX BILL — Learned from Councilman Denn N. Meyer that Assembly Bill 929, which would provide tax relief for cities, has been sent to an interim study committee in the Legislature. The bill would exempt cities from some county taxes for services which the counties only provide in unincorporated areas.

More Study Is Slated On Land Dividing

Two requests for land division in the Inverness area will get further study before a decision is made on them, Marin zoning administrator Thomas E. Cordill said yesterday.

Angus Robertson of San Francisco wants a use permit to divide a 50-acre parcel into two lots for home sites. The property is on the west side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, approximately a mile and a quarter north of Drakes View Drive, Inverness.

Wilfred M. Mitchell, Stockton, wants a use permit for four building lots on 6.64 acres at Sea Haven, Inverness. The land is on a private road a third of a mile west of the Escondidio Way and Via Del Vista intersection.

Cordill said it will take a day or two to study whether or not the rights of way at Robertson's property are adequate to permit proper access, and also if his proposal falls under the category of sub-dividing, rather than land division.

In Mitchell's case, said Cordill, the precise lot lines must be determined in order to pinpoint the location of access roads.

Teachers Lose Damages Claim

COLUSA (AP) — Colusa County supervisors rejected yesterday an $8,800 damage claim from two former Williams High School teachers who contended they had been injured by an investigation.

Bringing the claims for $4,400 each were George Drysdale, 23, whose home had been in Millbrae, and Lloyd Sutton, 26, who had lived in South San Francisco.

After an investigation, Dist. Atty. Harold Wilsey Jr. had accused them of furnishing beer to three students at a house where they were living, northwest of Williams.

The pleaded innocent and the district attorney dismissed the charges.

Judge Rules Driver May Delay Test

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Superior Court judge has ruled that one hour isn't an unreasonable length of time for a motorist to keep police waiting while he decides whether to take a chemical sobriety test.

Under the state's year-old "implied consent" law, the drivers license of a person arrested for drunken driving can be suspended for six months if he refuses to submit to a test.

In making the ruling, Judge Ralph H. Nutter said, "The suspect when first arrested may not have a clear idea what is happening to him and probably could not make an intelligent decision.

"But a little time in custody may decrease his belligerency."

The decision reinstated the license of George W. Mathias, 48, arrested last April 6 in suburban Temple City.

Classic Music Of China To Be Performed

A performance of Chinese classical music will be presented at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Ancient Chinese instruments will be played by 12 adults from San Francisco who organized the Chinese Classical Music Club several years ago. They have performed at Stanford University and other colleges, and for the recent National Conference of the American Library Association.

Leader is Lawrence Liu, who recently opened an art gallery in Tiburon, the "Han Syi." He has donated one of his paintings for auction at the event to raise money for a Chinese student scholarship. An exhibit of his work will be on view.

The scholarship fund is promoted by Helen Palubinskas of Mill Valley, who teaches gifted classes in Chinese culture and English as a second language at Marina Junior High School. She came into contact with children arriving from China, who were having difficulties with English and local Chinese idioms.

Following the concert there will be a reception with refreshments such as curry puffs and Oriental fried chicken.

At Big Exhibit

The S-B Gazette of Sausalito-Belvedere, a poetry paper edited by Leon Spiro of San Rafael, will be exhibited at the Exposition Poetique of the World Congress of New Poetry at Liege, Belgium, tomorrow through Sept. 27.

Begins Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Opera Co. opens its 1967 season tonight with Leyla Gencer singing the title role in Amilcare Ponchielli's "La Gioconda."

Among those expected at the War Memorial Opera House are Gov. and Mrs. Ronald Reagan.

Community Band Needing Players

John H. Myers, conductor of the College of Marin Community Band, is seeking instrumentalists for the band.

Prospective band members, particularly those who play clarinet, bassoon, saxophone or trombone, may come to band rehearsals at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays in Room 75 of the college fine arts building.

Coloring Contest

A coloring contest for children ages 5 through 12 is being sponsored by Purity food stores in San Rafael, Novato and Mill Valley and will be judged Friday at the stores.

Opera Workshop Sets Auditions

The College of Marin Opera Workshop will hold auditions for singers at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the college's fine arts building.

Workshop director Scott Merrick said he plans to bring to the stage this semester scenes from little known Baroque operas.

Knife Possession Trial On Oct. 16

Jury trial for Siegfried D. Porte, San Quentin inmate accused of knife possession, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the week of Oct. 16.

Porte, 24, serving five years to life for first degree robbery in Los Angeles County in 1964, allegedly had the knife July 5.

TIBURON ADOPTS ZONE ORDINANCE

Sent To Planners Despite Objections Some Details Still Must Be Ironed Out

Tiburon City Council last night adopted the city's first zoning ordinance and sent it to the planning commission to consider revisions.

Vice-Mayor Thomas E. Drohan said the ordinance was "90 per cent there" and could be "turned up" after adoption.

Main contender for the council to hold off its adoption until all the revisions were made first was Anne L. Ellinwood, vice chairman of the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee.

16 CHANGES

The council discussed 16 changes recommended in a letter fro TPAC, many of which Drohan decried, such as whether the ordinance should be published in looseleaf style and various clerical corrections.

The commission will be asked to study allowing lots as small as 2,000 square feet in the multiple-dwelling zone, one bedroom apartment developments. Minimum lot-size in the ordinance is 3,500 feet in that zone.

Miss Ellinwood asked the council to rescind the slope policy in the ordinance, compiled by planning consultant George Gatter.

Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said the city's slope policy was more restrictive than the one in the county master plan and objected to rescinding it.

But the council agreed to ask the planning commission to put a high priority on consideration of the slope policy.

A study of density in all zones was also given high priority on the list.

A letter from Northwestern Pacific railroad with recommended change in the ordinance was also discussed by the council.

Councilman Gordon W. Strawbridge wanted to know if the railroad was in a bargaining position." If we make concessions for them, why can't they makke some for us. Like keeping the waterfront open?"

Councilman Fanning said, "we have to dicide whether to stick to our planned development zoning downtown or let the railroad design our downtown area."

DENSITY FORECAST

Councilmen were concerned by the density forecast by looking at the plans of the railroad and the Tiburon Peninsula Co.

The council finally agreed to send the entire letter of recommendations from the railroad to the planning commission.

Councilman William R. Bremer was absent.

At 11:45 p.m. Mayor John S. Hoffmire called a closed session of the council to consider appointments to the planning commission to replace John McChesney who has resigned and Donald J. O'Leary whose resignation has been received but not yet accepted.

After the 15-minute session, Mayor Hoffmire said the council had agreed to bring nominations for the two positions to the next regular meeting on Monday. He said the nominations will probably be discussed in another closed session.

San Geronimo Defers Action On Services

The San Geronimo Valley Association deferred action last night after County Supervisor John F. McInnis outlined a plan for a service area for police protection in unincorporated areas of Marin.

Mrs. Stanley R. Frederick, association member, said the full association or its directors would take a stand on the plan before the supervisors hold a public hearing at 10:30 a.m. Oct. 3. She said only one member of the audience criticized the proposal last night.

Under it, McInnis explained, city residents would be relieved of the tax share of sheriff's costs for services they do not receive, and the cost of special sheriff's services would be borne by residents who request them, not all taxpayers.

Services proposed to remain the responsibility of the entire county are Marin City police protection, park and beach patrols, identification and records, and a minimum level of services in unincorporated areas benefiting city taxpayers directly or indirectly.

1,500 Dog Compete In Sunday's Show

Mrs. Helen Blair of Blairhaven Kennels in Novato said today there were about 1,500 competing dogs Sunday at the Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club at the Peacock Gap Country Club, not 200, as reported in the Independent-Journal.

She reported there were about 7,000 spectators.

Seminary Readies Dr. Come Honors

Dr. Arnold B. Come will be inaugurated as president of San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo Oct. 3, nine months after he was named to the top post at a special meeting of trustees.

Among those taking part will be Roger W. Heyns, chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley, who will deliver the charge to the new president.

The inauguration, scheduled for 8 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church, San Anselmo, will climax a two-day meeting of trustees, faculty and students marking the opening of school convocation.

Nearly 100 representatives from religious circles throughout the country are expected to attend the ceremony, presided over by trustee president James R. MacKay.

Dr. Come, acting president of the Presbyterian seminary since 1965, was appointed president last January. He has been a member of the faculty for 15 years and was Stuart professor of systematic theology and dean of faculty.

Before joining the seminary, he was head of the department of philosophy and religion of Center College in Danville, Ky., and for three years was pastor of Robert Graham Memorial Church in Philadelphia.

The author of four books, Dr. Come also writes for a wide range of periodicals.

He was a member of the committee responsible for drafting a contemporary confession of faith for the United Presbyterian Church and has served on key committees and commissions of the World Council of Churches and the World Presbyterian Alliance.

Dr. Come and his wife, the former Betty McClure, have two sons, A. Bruce Jr., and Lee McClure. They live on the San Anselmo campus.

Hub Lot Split Wins Approval

San Anselmo Planning Commission last night granted a request by Martin Molak for a lot split involving three lots on Oak Avenue, subject to five conditions.

One of these is that one of the lots, lying partially in San Anselmo and Ross, be taken over entirely by the Town of Ross to avoid future complications.

10,000 Watch Aerial Act By Thunderbirds

The 10,000 people who went to see the Thunderbirds at Hamilton Air Force base yesterday afternoon were given a lesson in Air Force efficiency and safety.

One of the four F100 Super Sabres taking off in the diamond formation, had a failure in the afterburner and could not get off the ground.

Maj. Stanton R. Musser, the pilot in the right wing position, turned back at the end of the runway, while the ground crew quickly got the spare plane ready. Within a matter of minutes it taxied down the runway, and with its afterburner igniting, took off to join the formation of the other three planes circling overhead awaiting it.

Capt. Michael M. Miller, the narrator, said that this was the first time that such a failure had delayed a Thunderbird show this year, although it has in past years.

After that, the crowd was treated to more than 30 minutes of loops, daring low level flying and flips, passes and near misses in front of the tower on the flight line. The Thunderbirds this year have added several more daring and spectacular formations to their show.

The climax comes when the four planes rise vertically in a column and then burst off into the four points of the compass with one of the solo pilots doing a corkscrew around their contrails. The planes then circle downward and come together in near misses right in front of the crowd.

Immediately after the super jets cooled down, school children in the crowd were allowed to go out the planes and meet the pilots. Novato schools had been dismissed for the afternoon so that the students could go to the show honoring the Air Force's 20th anniversary.

Prior to the show, the main parking area at base operations had displays of planes which could be inspected and entered. Among the planes were the F4C Phantom II used in Vietnam; F100, F102 and F106 fighter interceptors; an EC121 radar plane; HUC130 rescue plane; and HU16 Albatross rescue plane and the huge C124 cargo plane.

A noon reception for the Thunderbirds was given at the officer's club. They visited the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children in San Francisco last night.

Drive Opens To Back Tam Bond Issue

A campaign to win votes for the Tamalpais High School District bond election of Oct. 10 was opened in Reed School District last night as 40 citizens turned out for a bond rally meeting at Del Mar School, Tiburon.

Sepakers David D. Ring, chairman of the Tamalpais High School District bond election committee, Mervin D. Field, chairman of Tamalpais district's citizens building committee and Leo Souza, chairman of the Reed School District bond campaign committee, discussed issues of population growth, enrollment and taxes with the audience and gave out campaign literature to be distrubuted to voters, Souza said today.

He announced that precinct area chairmen selected last night are: James H. Ewert, Belvedere; James Richwagen, Tiburon Peninsula Club; J. Donald McCune, Reed School; Henry J. Broderick, Del Mar School; Donald S. Tayer, Bel Aire School; William F. Carroll, Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church and Ralph T. Welsh, Granada School.

Readjustment Of Classes On Fairfax Agenda

Some readjustment of classes in Fairfax School District will be discussed at a meeting today of trustees scheduled for 7:45 p.m. in the district office.

The reorganization comes as a result of increased enrollment. On the first day of the fall semester, number of children enrolled was 1,062 compared with 1,008 at the same time last year.

The jump in attendance figures is also expected to produce discussion today on the need for more furniture in the schools.

Also on the agenda is the hiring of Mrs. Loraine Barnes, science teacher for White Hill School, to replace Mrs. Kathleen Kamiya, who is leaving the district.

Driver Fined $100

Betty Jean McClain of 612 Oak Manor Drive, Fairfax, was fined $100 and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. San Rafael police arrested her April 25 on Second Street.

Smog Problem's Here —Not Across Bay

When San Rafael residents stepped outdoors in last Tuesday's heat, their eyes smarted and the air they breathed was foul.

The Bay Area Air Pollution Control District that day recorded an oxidant reading in San Rafael of .22 — .07 above the eye-smarting level. It was the second highest in the Bay Area, exceeded only by .25 in San Leandro.

This was nothing new. Last year, the highest oxidant reading anywhere in the district was .34 recorded in San Rafael on June 14.

THE FIGURES TELL their own story: Marin County is no longer on the outskirts of a smog bowl. It is IN the smog bowl.

This is a little hard to understand for those who habitually associate air pollution with factory chimneys spouting smoke into the atmosphere. Marin has so little industry that its lack for broadening the tax base is constantly lamented.

What Marin does have is a great many automobiles.

In Southern California, according to University of California at Riverside — a leader in smog research — 70 to 80 per cent of air pollution stems from auto exhausts. In the much-less-industrialized North Bay Area, the percentage must be still higher.

THE U.S. PUBLIC Health Service recently produced a list of the 65 cities with the dirtiest air in the nation. In making the ratings, it counted three pollution factors: (1) dust, ashes and other particles in the air; (2) gasoline fumes; (3) sulphur dioxides.

It rated San-Francisco-Oakland 35th among cities for dirtiest air, with a combined pollution rating of 253. (Highest was New York City with 457.5; Los Angeles-Long Beach was fourth with 393.5.)

With increasing frequency, the smog reading in San Rafael is above that in San Francisco.

Irritation to eyes, nose and throat is the warning signal. But the hazards of smog are far greater than mere irritation.

CALIFORNIA CROP damage due to air pollution totals more than $100 million a year — again according to University of California at Riverside.

A recent Reader's Digest story quoted John P. Nicholson, who has a company specializing in restoring stone buildings, that century-old New York structures have suffered more decay in the last 10 or 20 years than in their first 80 years — the result of air pollution. In Padua, Italy, the frescoed walls of the Giotto, which have stood since the 14th century, are crumbling; air pollution is blamed.

The increase in lung cancer in the United States between 1914 and 1950 corresponded exactly with the increase in gasoline consumption — a frightening indication that polluted air may be a greater cause of this disease than cigarette smoking.

LAST THANKSGIVING week, dense smog over the eastern seaboard, which brought an emergency alert in New York, caused 80 deaths.

Thirteen years earlier, also in November, a 10-day air inversion blanketed New York with smog blamed for 175 deaths.

In 1955, extremely toxic smog in London caused 1,000 deaths. Three years before that, an even worse London smog took 4,000 lives.

It could happen here.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND REPORTS

Arrogant Demo Leaders Bottle Congress Reform In Committee

WASHINGTON—The Democratic leadership of the House of Representatives is treating Congress—and the country—to an arrogant example of partisan power-politics.

It is giving the back of its hand to majority rule.

The Democratic leadership is adding bad politics to the already bad reputation of Congress on ethics, and when the facts get out the voters will not be amused.

HERE ARE the facts — and you can judge whether they tell a pretty story:

A year ago, after months of hearings and study, the Joint Committee on the Organization of Congress presented its findings on what urgently needs to be done to enable Congress to transact the public business more efficiently.

The committee was made up of six senators and six representatives and equally divided between the parties. It was chaired by the able and experienced Sen. Mike Monroney, D.-Okla.

Its recommendations for modest and constructive reforms were unanimous. One of its central provisions would transfer some of the almost dictatorial power of the committee chairmen to a majority of the committee members.

No quick action was sought —quite reasonably. The members of Congress were given a year to study the proposals.

On March 7, after 18 days of debate, the Senate gave its overwhelming approval, 75 to 9, to the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1967 which embodied the joint committee recommendations.

And now the Democratic leaders are subverting majority rule by not allowing the House to vote on it.

Nice, isn't it?

FOR MORE THAN six months the so-called Reformed House Rules Committee, controlled by the Democratic leadership, locked this measure so tightly in its solitary cell that Houdini couldn't break it loose.

It did venture to start some public hearings on the bill — but closed them after one day. Evidently its supporters were expounding its merits too persuasively.

I don't want to say that the Democrats in the House have done nothing, absolutely nothing, about congressional reform. They have. They looked over the proposals, said "humm" and introduced a bill dealing boldly with the guides who shepherd the tourists and the pages who run errands.

And one other thing. They peered a little further into the measure the Senate passed and found a nice little item — clearly justified as part of the whole package of reform — which gave increased travel allowances for congressmen to and from their districts. So they extracted this little dividend, introduced it all by itself, passed it with a gleeful whoop —and left all the real reforms under lock and key in the vault of the Rules Committee.

Nice, isn't it?

FORTUNATELY the Republicans are beginning to stand up and do something about this scornful refusal of the Rules Committee to permit the bill to come to a vote. Rep. James C. Cleveland, R.-New Hampshire, put it pointedly in the House a few days ago:

"I want to know by what rationale this legislation can be permitted to reside so long in the dark recesses of the House Rules Committee."

They don't need any rationale. The nearly omnipotent Democratic committee chairmen aren't going to give up one iota of their dictatorial powers or anything else in the cause of congressional reform and they are out to see it doesn't happen. Their strategy is to keep the bill bottled up until the last frantic days of the session and then to bring out a meaningless, watered-down measure—or nothing.

Back To Old Roadblocks

(Reprinted from New York Times)

The Johnson Administration's chief naysayer, Secretary Rusk, is at it again — with an assist, as so often in the past, from the President himself.

To the Secretary of State, it is clear that the United Nations has an obligation to press for peace in Vietnam — on American terms. But the United States, as he sees it, has no obligation to heed the U.N.'s overwhelming consensus that the only route to peace lies through a suspension of the bombing.

The quiet new post-election peace offensive Washington and Saigon, like the noisier pre-election models, remains anchored to tired old proposals that Hanoi repeatedly has rejected. Hanoi is urged either to talk while being bombed or to de-escalate militarily in the South in return for a bombing pause in the North.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON, meanwhile, has repeated his old refrain — repudiated by his own defense secretary — that a bombing pause would put American forces at a great disadvantage. "It's like going into the ring with Jack Dempsey with one hand tied behind your back," The Los Angeles Times quotes him as having told a group of editors and publishers at the White House last week.

The President authorized Senator Mansfield to declare that Secretary McNamara spoke for the Administration in minimizing the importance of bombing. But the President himself continues to ignore the impressive facts and figures marshaled by Mr. McNamara.

"PREDOMINANTLY agricultural" North Vietnam, Mr. McNamara told the Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee, "has no real war-making industrial base and hence none which could be destroyed by bombing." It "depends upon imports of war-supporting material and their transshipment to the South."

North Vietnam's import capacity is about 14,000 tons a day. Yet it brings in only 5,800 tons. Less than 10 per cent of that — 550 tons per day — is military equipment. And even this 550 tons far exceeds the quantity of external supplies needed by Communist forces in South Vietnam. At the current level of combat, the amount of supplies required in the South "could be transported by only a few trucks." Secretary McNamara put the estimated total requirement at "significantly under 100 tons a day." The former Assistant Secretary of State for the Far East, Roger Hilsman, has revealed that the enemy supply need was estimated at twelve tons a day last year. On that basis, it would be under twenty tons a day right now, a quantity that could be carried by eighty bicycles with typical 500-pound loads.

AMERICAN AIRCRAFT have bombed 1,900 fixed targets in North Vietnam over the past thirty months and this year there have been about 13,000 sorties a month, 75 per cent of them directed against lines of communications. North Vietnam has had to divert the labor of several hundred thousand workers and troops to the repair of bomb damage, a costly penalty. But it has been impossible to impose a ceiling on Hanoi's war shipments to the South, nor does Mr. McNamara believe there is any level of bombing short of annihilation of the population that could do so.

In politics, as in religion, it is equally absurd to aim at making proselytes by fire and sword. Heresies in either can rarely be cured by persecution. — Alexander Hamilton.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Move For Mansion Commendable

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A great deal of controversy is being raised over the activities under way by private interests to provide a new governor's mansion for California.

All of which is interesting, but hardly important as to the question of whether it's quite ethical for a private group to solicit funds for this purpose.

The mansion has become a "do-it-yourself" project for the people of California, for the simple reason that the State Legislature has had the opportunity for lo, these many years, to do something about the mansion, and has come up with a goose-egg for lo, these many years.

SO THE REAL question, rather than whether the procedure is ethical, is why shouldn't the people of the state do for themselves what their elected representatives have failed to do for them?

The Legislature since the early part of the century has elected to provide a rat-trap—or fire-trap, call it what you will — as a residence for the chief executive of the state.

Gov. Ronald Reagan and his family performed a meritorious service for California when they refused to live in the inconvenient, mid-Victorian structure, which might have been a fine house at one time, but now is an antiquated pile of junk which should have been abandoned and razed many years ago.

The Reagans thus brought the long controversy to a head by refusing the meager largesse of questionable accommodations provided by the state for its chief executive, and electedt o lease a slightly more modern home.

And now, some of the very people who have been most vociferous in their shouting for a new mansion are putting on a crying act because private interests are going ahead with preparations to build the structure, and are setting out to accomplish what the Legislature failed to accomplish over many years, on the grounds that contributions might lead to favoritism.

Up to this point, the Legislature has come up with nothing constructive in the ultimate.

It authorized the purchase of a site, which was purchased and taken off the tax rolls, so the people of Sacramento pay more taxes to make up the loss.

The state uses the site for nothing more than a parking lot, thus deriving some revenue for itself, but none for the City of Sacramento which derived appreciable funds in taxes before the land was acquired.

Thus legislative dalliance resulted in nothing but disadvantage to the taxpayers of Sacramento.

Insead of criticism, the people behind the drive for funds for the new mansion should be given a medal for attempting to accomplish with private funds what the Legislature has failed to accomplish with tax money.

Lagunitas Trustees Mindful Of Taxes

Editor, Independent-Journal:

This is to express the appreciation of the Lagunitas School District for you recent editorial clarifying the school tax rate situation in our district.

As you know, there was some confusion and misunderstanding regarding school tax rate reductions made possible by recent legislation. Due to funds made available by this legislation, the Lagunitas School District was able to reduce the General Purpose tax rate by 20 cents for the 1967-68 fiscal year.

In addition, a 20 cent tax rate voed in 1965 to finance the rental of portable classrooms expired on June 30, 1967.

The result is a 40 cent total reduction in the general purpose tax rate for 1967-68.

The Board of Trustees of the Lagunitas School District shares your concern regarding the tax burden of property owners. We feel that the action taken to reduce our school tax demonstrates this concern.

Worth Of Judo Lessons Doubted

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The Terra Linda Recreation-Park District Newsletter titled "Leisure Time," September 1967, carried an advertisement for "judo."

For $18 residents are entitled to have their children receive 12 lessons in the art of self defense.

The wonderful bit of copy goes on to point out that stuednts are "instructed in the proper philosophy of self-defense, and learn to use judo properly." Someone has to be kidding someone.

As member of the American Judo and Jujitsu Federation I attended the Ko den kan school taught by Professor Law of Oakland for three years, two to three evenings per week. Twelve hours of training in a dojo could hardly enable anyone to defend himself properly. If anything, at the conclusion of 12 hours, a person may be dangerous only to himself, and a liability to his parents for dentist and doctor bills.

Perhaps the most objectional part of the entire program is the fee. Judo is an art that takes years to learn. A child should have the opportunity to learn the philosophy and thought that goes into the ancient art; but it can't be done in 12 hours.

I-J Missed Boat On Marin City Event

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The Marin City Art and Music Fair of Sept. 10 was a triumphant experience attended by hundreds of persons from around the bay area. Paintings by over thirty Marin artists decorated the scene, and some of the county's finest musicians of both classical and folk styles delighted the crowds at St. Andrew Presbyterian Church. The only negative experience was that some credit cards and money were taken from a woman's purse left in a car in the parking lot.

What concerns me is that the Independen-Journal did not report a word on the efforts of the scores of people who worked on the Fair, and not a word or a picture on the pleasure of the many people enjoying the Sunday afternoon. Instead, you chose to print a story on the one flaw, the stolen articles. This kind of negative reporting is bad in any community, but it is particularly disturbing when it applies to Marin City, a community that is maligned unfairly so often. Why — why do you report the relatively few negative stories, leaving out the many positive and creative experiences that people enjoy in Marin City?

Agaain, we had a marvelous fair, and we invite you to enjoy the next one with us.

STRANDED COUPLE LEARNS MEANING OF "THANKS"

A lone French couple survived months lost at sea and marooned on a crocodile-and-snake-infested island. They thanked "God and the Australians" for their rescue.

The veteran airline pilot and his wife had set sail from Singapore in a small vessel, hoping to make it around the world to France. But a cyclone battered the tiny boat, sweeping it ashore on Bathurst Island, 75 miles north of Darwin, Australia.

The couple existed for six weeks on rainwater and sea snails. Then they made a raft of their boat's mast and pushed out to sea.

Suffering from hunger and ulcerating wounds, they were at the point of death when an Australian freight boat, the Betty Jane, spotted the raft.

Thanking both God and our fellow humans is something that should come naturally, or small favor, we acknowledge that the Lord ordinarily sends His gifts with others.

Portland's Vast Parks Beautiful –But They Get Little Use

Vacations are good for one thing: They give a person a chance to view other communities and compare them with the community where he is living.

For instance, I had lived in or near Portland, Ore., for many years. I was aware at that time the city had many beautiful parks. This summer was the hottest, driest summer on record in that city and we were there during part of it. The parks stood out like oases in that parched city which is usually so green.

Then I began really to observe the parks. There were vast expanses of trees and grass, so inviting in the stifling heat of the city. But they were not used. Not once did I see anyone sitting in the shade on the grass, eating at the picnic tables, or otherwise enjoying the greenery. The only portions of the parks that were being used were the children's playgrounds. These were usually filled with children using the swings, slides and other equipment.

THEN I BEGAN to wonder about Novato. For years the city has tried to get a park program started. The Rotary Club tot lot at Olive and Railroad avenues has really had a workout since it was opened. How about larger parks which would really be expensive where land is as costly as it is in Novato? Does the city really need them? Or would more neighborhood play areas for the children be the proper answer?

In western cities, where one can get in a car and in a few minutes be away from civilization, do cities need vast open green areas? I wonder.

ON THE LOWER Columbia River are many islands which have been diked and have rich farms on them. I visited Midland Island, which is about six or seven miles across.

Since I had been there last, there were little black pipes sticking up in front of each house. The houses run from a city block to a quarter of a mile apart.

Inquiring, I was told the pipes were the house services for the telephone cable which had been installed underground. It had been done by General Telephone Co., the same that services the northern Novato area.

How can one phone company put the utilities underground in a farming area in one state and not do it in a city in another state where the customer service per mile of underground cable would be a lot more?

The City of Novato has had a campaign for several years to get utilities underground. Maybe the city council should ask for a comparison of costs between Oregon and California for putting utilities underground.

TRAVELING HIGHWAY 101 during the height of the tourist season, we saw more trailers and campers than ever before. Many of the drivers were very courteous. Knowing that they could not pull their trailers as fast as passenger cars traveled, they would stop in turnouts (as required by law in California) and stay in the slow lane if there was a passing lane.

However, the vast majority of the trailer drivers were very rude and would not get over, even when they had 35 to 40 cars lined up behind them. All trailer owners in Marin County could compare their driving habits to those described.

When one returns home after three weeks absence, he always finds some change. This time, the surprise came to find sidewalks, curbs and gutters installed around the Novato City Hall. This is a project which we have mentioned for several years, and are glad to see it completed.

MORRIE RYSKIND

Heraclitus Had Right Idea, But He Should Be Around Today

I wasn't tops in my class, but I do remember that Heraclitus' basic philosophy could be summed up in two Greek words, "panta rhei." Literally, that is "everything flows" — which was his way of saying the world was in constant flux.

You said it, Heraclitus! But if the world looked that kerflummoxed back in 500 B.C., you ought to get a load of it now when manners and morals and law and religion and everything else shift daily.

DAILY? MAKE THAT hourly. You have to get the latest edition of your paper to determine whether any given course is either ethical or legal. That it was both at noon is no criterion for 6 p.m.

What with the Supreme Court, Dr. Martin Luther King, Dr. Leary and Father Groppi reinterpreting the Constitution (and so negating it), a body finds it hard to know what is right and what is wrong. I know a cop who won't go after a holdup man until he's consulted Robert's Rules of Order for the proper parliamentary procedure.

At the moment, he's in traction at the hospital, since the thug fired at him while he was leafing through the Rules. But he's taking it cheerfully and studying one of those quick-reading courses which teach you to read 2,000 words a minute. "Next time," he says, "I'll be able to find what I want in a jiffy."

Still, he's better off than his fellow-officer who shot the holdup man. This second cop was immediately charged with police brutality and has been temporarily suspended while it is decided whether his action was justified. In addition, the American Civil Liberties Union may file a civil suit against him for acting uncivilly to a civilian engaged in pursuing his profession.

Rumor has it the defense will claim the officer had been brainwashed into believing it was a cop's job to get his man. That primitive notion may work for the Royal Northwest Mounted, but this is America, where criminals' rights now supersede all others'.

E.G., A SHORT WHILE back a mischievous 21-year-old was arrested for raping and killing a 75-year-old grandmother. He is free now, because he was so innocent he confessed without being told of his right to an attorney. Now there's a real change, Heraclitus. Some things in Ancient Greece weren't precisely kosher, but I doubt you can match that.

And not long ago, there was a riot in a midwestern prison. And what was the main complaint? Well, the residents were getting ice cream only on Sundays — so they naturally demonstrated. At the conference table they settled for twice weekly — but you can't hold progress back. At the next bargaining session, they'll get pie a la mode daily — the first step toward rehabilitation.

BUT THE REALLY big change is in Education. Remember LeRoi Jones, the colored four-letter playwright who got a Guggenheim Fellowship? He wrote "The Toilet," which fully lived up to its title, and was then given some $50,000 or so by the Anti-Poverty boys to put on his plays in Harlem and bring his culture to that deprived area.

He did just that, producing plays which urged that "Whitey" be killed. And followed his preaching by appearing at the Newark riots, where he was arrested for the possession of loaded firearms.

This is one Jones really hard to keep up with. He next shows up on the campus of San Francisco State College as a "visiting professor." And they said Governor Reagan's cuts in education would prevent California from getting good teachers!

Currently, another of his incredibly filthy plays (I have just read it) is showing in the Negro neighborhoods of San Francisco — which is okay with me. But what isn't okay is that the play is financed by funds collected as mandatory fees from every student at S.F. State, a college supported by all California taxpayers. And, since that includes me, I want to know what the hell has been going on.

DON'T GET ME WRONG, Heraclitus. I can accept change — and right now I'd like to see a whopping big one made at S.F. State — one that would stop taxpayers' money going to support garbage of this sort in the name of Education. And when I say garbage, that goes for every administrator that permitted such goings-on.

Academic freedom — my foot!

University Cash Plan Proposed By Dutton

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A University of California regent is proposing a wide-ranging plan to raise $40 million for the university as an alternative to raising fees which would "just soak the students."

Regent Frederick Dutton of Sausalito detailed his plan to Board of Regents chairman Theodore R. meyer and other members of a committee to recommend the amount of a recently voted fee increase.

Dutton's plan would increase student fees by $100, but only for students whose families have a minimum annual income of $20,000 before taxes. The increase would raise $2.1 million, he estimated.

He also urged regents to approve a policy declaration that fees would not be raised further for at least 10 years. His package is to "raise seriously the prospect of alternative sources of income and not just soak the students," he said.

His plan also includes:

A drive to bring in $12 million to $20 million more annually from agricultural research.

A public fund-raising campaign to raise $2.5 million for student aid.

State funds to match the total raised by the other sources —an estimated $20 million in 1968-69.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

I, the 62 year old owner of a wholesale metal products firm in S. F. need a man to run it when I retire then to buy it.
Main qualification is that you have a record of making a success of the jobs you undertake and you are asked to go into detail about this.
Starting salary will depend on background but will not exceed $15,000 plus probably a big bonus.
Having investment capital is not a must but is an asset. If you have the money you will be able to buy a half interest as soon as I am sure you can do the work.
The firm has been very profitable for over 20 years and this year should net $70,000 on $120,000 investment.

No. 1679 Sept. 12, 19, 26, Oct. 3, 1967

GALLINAS VILLAGE COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT
ORDINANCE NO. 7
AN ORDINANCE OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF GALLINAS VILLAGE COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT REGULATING CONDUCT IN PARKS, PROVIDING FOR ENFORCEMENT AND PRESCRIBING PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION OF ITS PROVISIONS.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of Directors of the Gallinas Village Community Services District as follows:

SECTION 1. Definitions: For purposes of this chapter, the following terms, phrases, words, and their derivatives shall have the meaning given herein.

(a) "District" shall mean the Gallinas Village Community Services District.

(b) "District Properties" shall mean any area in Gallinas Village Community Services District area where the primary objective is to retain the area in its natural state.

(c) "Park" is a park, reservation, playground, each recreation center or any other area in the District owned or used by the District and devoted to active or passive recreation.

(d) "Park and Recreation Commission" is that Commission created by Gallinas Village Community Services District.

(e) "Trails" — narrow strips of land owned or leased by the District, the public or subject to an easement of the District or public and used for hiking, riding or bicycling.

(f) "Vehicle" is any wheeled conveyance, whether motor powered, animal drawn or self propelled. The term shall include any trailer in tow of any size, kind or description; provided, however, that vehicles shall not be construed to mean baby carriages or vehicles in the service of the District.

(g) "Vessel" is any boat, raft or watercraft, whether motor powered or not.

SECTION 2. Description: For purposes of this Ordinance, those District Properties coming within the definition of Section 1, (b), are hereby denominated as follows:

Pueblo Park, Rosal-Adrian Park, and the former Sewer Plant site on Gallinas Creek. Lot Nos. 3 and 29-B - 180 - 15 - Unrecorded Map of Santa Venetia.

SECTION 3. Park Property: No person in a park or nature preserve shall:

(a) Willfully mark, deface, disfigure, injure, tamper with or displace or remove any playground equipment, building, bridges, tables, benches, fireplaces, railing, paving material, waterlines, or other public utilities, or parts or appurtenances thereof, signs, notices or placards, whether temporary or permanent, monuments, stakes, posts or other boundary markers, or other structures or equipment, facilities, or park property or appurtenances whatsoever, either real or personal.

(b) Remove any tanbark, sand, whether submerged or not, or a rock, soil, stones, trees, shrubs or plants, downed timber or other wood or materials, or make any excavation by tool, equipment, blasting or other means or agency.

(c) Damage, cut, carve, transplant or remove a tree or plant, or injure the bark, or pick any flowers or seeds of any tree or plant. Nor shall any person attach any rope, wire or other contrivance to any tree or plant. A person shall not dig in or otherwise disturb grass areas, or in any other way injure or impair the natural beauty or usefulness of any area.

(d) Hunt, molest, harm, frighten, kill, trap, chase, tease, shoot or throw missiles at any animal, reptile, or bird, nor shall he remove or have in his possession the young of any wild animal, or the eggs or nest or young of any reptile or bird. Exception to the foregoing is made in that snakes known to be deadly poisonous such as rattlesnakes may be killed upon sight.

(e) Fish or clam except as allowed by State Law; provided, however, that the District may designate certain areas as "No Fishing" areas by regulation and order signs posted in the vicinity, and said posted areas may not be fished in or clammed.

(f) Use, carry or possess firearms of any description, or air rifles, spring guns, bow and arrows, slings, bullwhips, or any other forms of weapons potentially inimical to wild life and dangerous to human safety, or any instrument that can be loaded with and fire blank cartridges, and any kind of trapping device. Shooting into the park areas from beyond park boundaries is forbidden.

(g) Throw, discharge or otherwise place or cause to be placed in the waters of any fountain, pond, lake, stream, bay or other body of water in or adjacent to any park or any tributaries, stream, storm sewer or any drain flowing into such waters, any substance, matter or thing, liquid or solid, which will or may result in the pollution of said waters, or impair the natural drainage of said waters.

Have brought in or shall dump, deposit or leave any bottles, broken glass, ashes, paper, boxes, cans, dirt, rubbish, waste, garbage, or refuse or other trash. No such refuse or trash will be placed in any waters in or contiguous to any park or left anywhere on the grounds thereof but shall be placed in the proper receptacles where these are provided. Where receptacles are not so provided, all such rubbish or waste shall be carried away from the park by the person responsible for its presence and properly disposed of elsewhere.

(h) Build, set or maintain any open fire in any park or nature preserve. For purposes of this section, open fires shall mean not only open fires built of wood or other inflammable material on the ground, but also fires built in any and all braziers, portable or otherwise, used for or intended to be used for cooking, lighting or heating purposes, except in certain areas designated by signs, in compliance with local Fire Department regulations, said local Fire Department having jurisdiction over said park.

(i) Have been responsible for the entry of any domestic animal into a nature preserve. Allow a domestic animal to run at large in any park. All domestic animals in parks shall be restrained at all times on adequate leashes not greater than ten (10) feet in length.

(j) Tie or hitch an animal to a tree or plant.

(k) No horses shall be permitted to enter within the boundaries of any District Properties or Parks.

(l) Swim, bathe or wade in any waters or waterways in or adjacent to any park, except in such waters or in such places as are provided therefor, and in compliance with such regulations as are herein set forth.

(m) Disturb or aid in disturbing the peace of others by violent, tumultuous, offensive or obstreperous conduct or language.

(n) Expose or offer for sale any articles or things, nor shall said person station or place any stand, cart or vehicle for the transportation, sale or display of any such article or thing. Announce, advertise or call the public attention in any way to any article or service for sale or hire.

Exception is hereby made as to any regularly licensed concessionnaire acting by and under the authority and regulation of the District.

(o) Brought or have in his possession, or set off or otherwise cause to explode or discharge or burn, any firecrackers, torpedo, rocket or other fireworks or explosives of inflammable material, or discharge them or throw them into any such area from land or highway adjacent thereto. The foregoing prohibition shall be inapplicable to fireworks displays controlled by the District and/or employees of the District acting within the scope of their employment.

(p) Appropriate, excavate, injure, destroy or remove any historic or prehistoric ruin or monument, or any object of antiquity, without the permission of the District.

SECTION 4. Vehicular Regulations: No persons in a Park or on District Property shall:

(a) Ride or drive a vehicle within the confines of said District Park or Property without the expressed written consent of the District.

SECTION 5. Group Activities: Group activities and use of parks and nature preserves, including day camping, overnight camping, and group picnics and other park activities appropriate to the park area for which the permit is sought, are allowed subject to the conformity with regulations adopted by the District.

SECTION 6. Structures: Temporary or permanent structures or facilities may not be erected in any park or nature preserve without obtaining a permit therefor from the District.

SECTION 7. No person shall enter any area posted closed due to work in progress by employees of the District or employees of an entity contracting with the District, or a dangerous condition, or due to potential fire danger.

SECTION 8. Admission charges may be levied by the District in such amounts as may be deemed proper in order to gain entrance into any park or nature preserve.

SECTION 9. Permits required to be obtained from the District by Section 5 and 6 hereof shall be issued only in conformity with the regulations adopted by the District and shall be issued only if in conformity with the standards adopted by said District.

SECTION 10. Within seven (7) days after receipt of an application, the Secretary shall appraise the applicant in writing of his reasons for refusing, and he shall have a right to appeal in writing within seven (7) days to the District Governing Board, which shall consider the application under the standards set forth in their regulations, and sustain or overrule the District's decision at the next meeting following the notification of appeal.

SECTION 11. A permittee shall be bound by all park rules and regulations and all applicable ordinances fully as though the same were inserted in said permits.

SECTION 12. The person or persons to whom a permit is issued shall be liable for any loss, damage or injuries sustained by any person whatever by reason of the negligence of the person or persons to whom such permit shall have been issued.

SECTION 13. Fees may be adopted for such permits in accordance with the rules and regulations of the District.

SECTION 14. The District shall have the authority to revoke a permit upon a finding of violation of any rule or ordinance or upon good cause shown.

SECTION 15. Enforcement: Directors, officers, and employees of the District, and any member of a duly constituted law enforcement agency of the County of Marin or the State of California, shall have the authority to eject from any park or nature preserve any person acting in violation of this ordinance and shall have the authority to seize and confiscate any property, thing or device in the park, used in violation of this ordinance.

SECTION 16. Severability: The provisions of this ordinance are severable and if any provision, sentence, clause, section or part thereof is held illegal, invalid or unconstitutional or inapplicable to any person or circumstances, such illegality, invalidity, unconstitutionality or inapplicability shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions, sentences, clauses, sections or parts of the ordinance or their application to other persons and circumstances.

SECTION 17. Any person violating any of the provisions of this Chapter shall be deemed guilty of a misdeameanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the County Jail not exceeding six months, or by a fine of not exceeding Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), or by both such imprisonment and fine.

SECTION 18. This ordinance shall be and is hereby declared to be in full force and effect as of thirty (30) days after its passage and shall be published once before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage, with the names of the Board of Directors voting for and against the same in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, published in the County of Marin.

SECTION 19. Parks as described in Section 2 hereof shall be open to the public from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily and shall be closed to the public from 11 p.m. through 6 a.m. seven days a week. It shall be unlawful for any person to be present in the park between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. without proper authority of the District.

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Gallinas Village Community Services District on the 4th day of September, 1967, by the following vote:

Volunteer Bureau Offers Teens Valuable Training

By ALLYSON WARD
Redwood High School

Volunteer jobs offer a chance for teen-agers to sample possible future careers plus doing a service for others by working for organizations connected with the Marin County Volunteer Bureau.

There are many types of volunteer jobs open. Boys are often needed for physical and occupational therapy for Easter Seal. In hospitals, volunteers can give personal attention to patients by taking messages, caring for flowers, writing letters, and serving meals.

If a volunteer is artistic or can play a musical instrument, he can entertain or help children in arts and crafts activity or make posters for a play.

Office work, helping in hospitals, and working with crippled mentally retarded children are a few of the positions open to high school students, who may call the Marin Volunteer Bureau, in San Rafael.

"Before a person goes in for volunteer work he should take stock of his available time, because the volunteer who keeps his appointments is the one needed," explained Mrs. Marion Kelley of the Marin Volunteer Bureau.

"Ninth graders are often the best for volunteer work, since juniors and seniors are involved in other activities and do not have the time," she added.

Mrs. John Caple, head of publicity for the bureau, commented that, "For a teen-ager, a volunteer job is a very good way to sample careers."

When a student decides to volunteer his or her services, the Bureau acts as a clearing house. It can place a volunteer in the right job. Jobs are open for groups, such as bands who would volunteer to play for various charity organizations.

Volunteer work counts as job experience for future employers who often require such experience from teen-agers hunting for their first job. Records are kept on all volunteer workers by the bureau, so that if a recommendation for a job is needed by a volunteer, one will be available.

With the experience gained from volunteer jobs, students have a chance to evaluate their ability in their work. Their evaluations of experiences in this program may lead them into careers in teaching, nursing, physical or occupational therapy, secretarial work or many other opportunities that are open.

United Bay Crusade To Begin Monday

Marin volunteer workers for the annual United Bay Area Crusade fund drive will open the campaign at noon Monday at a luncheon at Bob's of Marin, Corte Madera.

Eighteen agencies operating in Marin — together with a total of 176 agencies in the Bay Area which may benefit Marinites — will divide up funds according to budgeted needs, campaign officials explained.

Included in the luncheon will be an appearance by Miss Marin, Patricia Twohill of Terra Linda, speeches by fund drive leaders and a showing on Channel 2 of a film outlining United Crusade agencies work. The luncheon will be duplicated in 10 other Bay Area locations in San Francisco, San Mateo, Contra Costa and Alameda counties.

About 1,000 Marinites are expected to take part in the drive for funds. Mrs. Milton L. Stannard Jr. of Tiburon will direct solicitation of homes; B. A. Sill of Corte Madera heads the campaign to solicit small businesses.

Principal speaker at the luncheon will be Charles G. Wood of Tiburon, chairman of the Bay Area commerce and industry campaign.

Washington Think-Factory Has Key Role In Government Policies

By SCIENCE SERVICE

Along a tree-lined avenue at one end of Embassy Row in Washington is a staid modern building, with "The Brookings Institution" engraved over the door. The words tell nothing about the place. Nor is the visitor enlightened when he walks inside to find quiet, empty corridors and an elusive air of intellectualism and research in the social sciences.

For 50 years, Brookings has been influencing public policy, and through it, the course of history, yet outside academic and political circles, no one is sure what goes on behind its austere facade.

What goes on there is research, by a staff of 90 top economists and political scientists, who annually produce some 15 to 20 volumes of expert analysis bearing on issues from transportation to taxation to international affairs.

Government leaders come to unburden themselves on public issues over informal Brookings luncheons. University representatives meet with policy makers in small seminars dealing with science, foreign policy, the economy and urban problems. And out of the process comes a subtle influence on the way government planners think — about budgets, taxes, science and public policy, economics, political science and even—recently — foreign policy.

Such high-level exchange is enhanced by the fact that Brookings draws increasingly from top echelon talent for its staff. Many of the economists, for example, were previously on the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Kermit Gordon, Brookings president, was formerly director of the Federal Bureau of the Budget under presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

"Brookings has one foot in the government," says Dr. Gordon. "We all know each other . . . the movement back and forth is increasing at high levels."

But, says Dr. Gordon, Brookings intends to maintain its independence of government. What makes the institution unique among what Washington calls "think tanks" is just that ability to be independent. With a net worth exceeding $20 million in investments and real estate and an operating budget of more than $3 million a year, Brookings does not need government contracts. When it does undertake a study for government, the institutiton insists on the right to publish regardless of agency approval.

Such financial security — due largely to a $14 million Ford Foundation grant made in 1965 —allows Brookings to fulfill its founder's original vision. That was to create a spot of non-political territory where public service-minded men and women could "think through these questions of law and government and economics and social relations," unhampered by political restraints.

Robert Somers Brookings was a traveling salesman at 18, a wealthy St. Louis cordage manufacturer at 48, and a public servant thereafter. He gave his name to the Brookings Institution after first building and merging its two predecessors—the Institute for Government Research and the Institute for Economics.

Today the institution has broadened its work in foreign policy, made Latin America a primary subject area since 1961, and reached into the murky field of urban problems.

But economics remains its primary job. To date, Brookings has completed 25 volumes in a massive analysis of government finance at the local, state and federal level. The finance studies are unlikely to have an immediate impact, but will instead enter the stream of information to help create a climate for change.

"I don't think there will be a major new development in tax policy . . . that will not be influenced by this study," says Dr. Gordon.

More typical of the Brookings pattern, however, is the individual staff member who takes up a cause and promotes it vigorously whether anyone inside or outside the institution agrees with him or not.

In 1963, while the United States panicked publicly over its international balance of payments deficit, economist Walter S. Salant and four colleagues wrote an analysis suggesting that the government's distress was misplaced.

Dr. Salant has carried his argument even further with a "minority view" published last year in the Economist of London. Not only is a U.S. deficit not a problem; it's an advantage, says Salant. True disability would lie in a balance, for the simple reason that the United States acts as the world's banker.

Like any bank, "its job is to accept short term deposits and issue long-term loans." That means excess dollars in Europe and a liquid deficit here — a deficit which is "essential for world economic growth."

So far, the minority view remains with a minority, but it is steadily gaining adherents, says Salant.

In Brookings' foreign policies program, Dr. Joseph Grunwald holds similarly strong convictions on a Latin American common market. Head of a cooperative research effort with 19 Latin American institutions, Dr. Grunwald hopes eventually to see a change in the U.S. attitude toward a Latin American common market.

Today the United States claims it has always supported a common market, says Dr. Grunwald, but the truth is that before 1950, its attitude was actively hostile. That was followed by indifference. Since then, the government has given lip service to the idea, but no concrete support, he charges.

Brookings' approach to urban problems is uniquely its own. Rather than analyzing social ills directly, Brookings has concentrated on the government's capacity to deal with modern America.

The last few years have produced an entirely new kind of legislation oriented toward the consumer; it doesn't fit traditional concepts of Congress, says Dr. George A. Graham, director of governmental studies.

With the help of Congressional leaders, Brookings has hammered out a description of power in both the House and Senate, hoping to do for domestic policy what it once did for government finances—increase its sophistication and efficiency.

If the Government is slow to identify a problem, such as civil rights, it is slow to act and the conditions for a settlement become tougher, says Dr. Graham.

For its part, Brookings probably will not undertake a study in race relations. "We don't tackle problems already upon us," says Dr. Graham. "For many important questions, there isn't time to do basic research."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hysteria Over Polio Has Ended But Some Cases Still Found

VAN DELLEN

Remember how polio conscious we were prior to the discovery of the oral vaccine? August, September and October were frightening months. Newspapers reported every new case, even though many of these children did not have the disease. Suspects, including those with non-paralytic disorders simulating polio, were tabulated to increase our awareness of the condition. This is no longer done.

POLIOMYELITIS IS still with us. During 1966, 102 cases of paralytic polio were reported to the National Communicable Disease center. This is 41 more than were reported in 1965 and 11 more than in 1964.

Of the 102, 66 involved unimmunized pre-schoolers in southern Texas. The remainder came from widely distributed areas in 20 states.

Five of these were considered "vaccine associated." The children developed the disease within four to 30 days after receiving the oral vaccine.

THERE WAS no epidemic at the time of the outbreak and no other way to get the disease. An additional four cases occurred in adults who were in contact with children who had been vaccinated.

We never want to go back to the publicity of the pre-vaccine era. Ten to 15 years ago every infectious illness during the polio season was viewed with suspicion.

Parents were advised to keep children with minor colds in bed until well. The physician was called when headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, and tenderness or stiffness of the neck or back developed.

THE CHANCES were good that polio was not responsible but parents spent many anxious hours awaiting the verdict.

Polio threats changed the way people lived in those days, especially during August and September. Many families stayed home and beaches and swimming pools were deserted.

Tonsils were not removed during the summer. Fatigue and chilling were also thought to increase the risk of polio. Cleanliness was stressed — a good habit during any era.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

NEURITIS

L. P. writes: My friend, who was a heavy drinker at one time, has neuritis in one leg. His physician says it is from alcohol. Is there a cure for this pain?

REPLY

Yes, if the nerve has not been damaged beyond repair. Your friend might be interested in our leaflet on alcoholic neuritis, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed evelope with request.

WAISTLINE

Nicholas writes: I am 10 years old and would like some exercises to remove flab from the waistline.

REPLY

Just act your age. Run jump, play baseball, ride your bike, chin yourself, and do pushups. Nature will take care of the rest.

PENICILLIN

REPLY

No, nor is it of value in other viral diseases, like the common cold, influenza, polio, or mumps.

PINT OF WHISKY

J. P. writes: Is it harmful for a diabetic to drink a pint of whisky every day?

REPLY

Yes, and the same could be said of non-diabetics.

SPECIAL CHEMICAL

D. G. writes: What is the factor in the stomach that is responsible for the development of red blood cells?

REPLY

The stomach contains a chemical that is capable of extracting vitamin B12 from food. B12 is responsible for initiating the machinery that makes blood cells grow to maturity.

Cairo Paper Claims Top Aides Jailed

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today Egypt's intelligence network director Salah Nasr was placed under house arrest immediately following Israel's stunning knockout initial attack in the Middle East war on June 5. It also said 181 officers and civilians had been arrested since the war.

Leaflets calling for a general strike in the Israel-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River appeared in East Jerusalem Monday. The strike was organized to coincide with the opening of the U.N. General Assembly session in New York today.

In Beirut Western oil sources said they believe Syria would not interfere with oil shipments to the West despite its announced opposition to lifting the oil ban established during the war.

The sources said the Mediterranean terminal at Banias, Syria, was operating at full capacity. Only Iraq and Syria have maintained the ban which other Arab leaders lifted at their summit conference last month.

The 181 arrested since the war included the three top men in the Egyptian Air Force. The Air Force brass were among 31 now retired officers being questioned "to determine the reasons for the military setback," said Al Ahram, the newspaper that often speaks for U.A.R President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Bridge Count Up

A record 508,080 vehicles passed over the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge last month, a jump of 4.6 per cent over the same month last year, the State Division of Bay Toll Crossings reported yesterday.

LBJ Slate Fares Badly In New Poll

Almost half of the Democratic voters said they thought Johnson was doing a "poor" job in handling the Vietnam situation, the poll reported today in a Los Angeles Times copyrighted story.

Further, 67 per cent could not think of any program or field in which the President was doing a "good" job.

Asked by the pollsters whether their votes would go to "peace" delegations or to delegations supporting Johnson, 42 per cent would support the President.

Another 39 per cent said they would support a peace delegation. The remaining 19 per cent were undecided.

The Times story said the Vietnam War has strongly altered the normal course of political behavior in which an incumbent President usually receives strong support against a delegation pledged to an issue rather than to a man.

Of the Democratic voters questioned, 53 per cent gave their general approval of the way Mr. Johnson "is handling his job as President."

Disapproval in this area was voiced by 35 per cent with 12 per cent offering no opinion.

Asked one area in which Johnson is doing a "bad" or "poor" job, 45 per cent of those questioned named Vietnam, 22 per cent voiced criticism of various domestic programs and 33 per cent said they didn't know.

The bathyscaphe, a device for deepsea observation, was invented by Auguste Piccard of France. He descended 10,339 feet in it in 1953.

Yugoslavia Is First Program Of Travel Series

Armchair travelers may range from Europe to Mexico and Asia during the annual Explorerama Marin series of movies and lectures beginning Thursday at the College of Marin.

A film on Yugoslavia will open the series, followed by one on Australia, Oct. 6; Mexico, Oct. 26; Bavaria, Nov. 2; Hong Kong, Nov. 16; Greece, Nov. 29.

Showings are at 8:15 p.m. at Olney Hall at the College of Marin, Kentfield. The associated students of the college and the Explorers Club of San Francisco sponsor the series. Profits from the showings go into a scholarship fund for College of Marin students.

Viewers Must Now Await The Specials

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The television premiere season of new series has come and gone, and it is entirely understandable if you hadn't noticed. To describe it as a disaster would be misleading, for a disaster implies that something of major import has occurred, and the whole point about the new series is that nothing has happened. In sum, they may be described as the nonentity brigade.

But if all this sounds disparaging, it is not really meant to be, and for very pragmatic industry reasons. It has been quite obvious for some time that the standard series as we know it—the kind that arrived this season—has been reduced in network status to the position of mere filler: necessary, bread-and-butter filler, true, but filler nevetheless. These shows are economically important, but in fact their downgrading marks the beginning of what many believe eventually will be the phasing out of series in their present form.

In practical terms, the real television season will soon begin now that the routine overture is over. What I am talking about, of course, are the countless "specials" that are due to arrive, the broadcasts on which the networks have lavished all the attention they used to give to series. For specials and movies are the new television power centers—and internationally-oriented programming will soon burgeon also in importance. Thus, to demolish the new, standard series with a critical ax is as pointless as using a double-barreled shotgun to blast a field mouse.

It is possible to say, without any fear of contradiction, that the new series have failed to bring forth a single important show in terms of advancing television. Last season, there was at least "ABC Stage 6" and its lure of weekly novelty.

This season, ABC-TV has regressed to the bang-bang-you're-dead philosophy of programming that characterized the reign of its former boss, Ollie Treyz.

CBS-TV's contributions to this season — situation comedies, westerns, a private eye, a variety hour and a children's show—have been routine also.

Of the three networks, NBC-TV has the new series that are easiest to take. They are all on the safe side, but at least there is sometimes a feeling of taste and just plain good fun—serials that are just that—and several of the shows have the potential to develop into amiable time-killers.

By all odds, the best shows I saw during the premiere season were two NBC-TV "sneak previews." One was "The Ghost-breaker," a high-style hour about a professor who investigates allegedly supernatural incidents. The other was "Sheriff Who???", a half-hour western satire.

Campus Housing Protest Flares

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A Negro teacher charged yesterday that housing discrimination at San Jose State College has forced some Negro students to sleep in bath tubs and basements.

Harry Edwards, 24, assistant professor of sociology, told a rally he would organize protests and disrupt college life unless the college met his demands.

He said five Negro members of the football teams were sleeping in a motel because they couldn't find housing and "black athletes can't get into fraternities."

TENNIS PLEA LOSES

No Court Screen In Corte Madera

Corte Madera Town Council last night delivered a forceful blow to the town's already windblown tennis players.

Members voted 3-1 they would not erect anything on the courts this year to keep out the winter wind, despite a plea from Frank L. Nelson, Corte Madera's tennis-playing police and fire chief.

In his opinion, the two courts were the best in the county. But when "that cotton-pickin' wind" blew from the sounth and west, he and fellow players packed their rackets and headed for the calmer climes of Kentfield or San Rafael High School.

Mayor Edward W. Colhurst sympathized but said that the park did not lend itself to screening or every use. If windbreaks were erected for the tennis courts, soon anyone could come along with a similar petition and soon the purpose of the park would be defeated.

Councilman William W. Collier suggested a decision be put off until the next budget. Councilman Charles F. Pendleton was against the delay. Councilman Harold Wagstaff was absent.

The council put off until next meeting any decison on policy for sidewalk repair.

Although agreeing homeowners should be requested first to carry out repairs to sidewalks which may prove a liability, members were hung up on trees and the extent to which they could require tree roots be cut if damage was being cause.

Councilman Collier considered the public works department could adjudicate on routine sidewalk subsidence but if trees were involved, a decision should come from the council.

Members had second thoughts about last meeting's refusal to grant Town Manager Ronald L. Usher and Chief Building Inspecor William G. McBride permission to attend conferences at a cost of $741.

Mayor Colhurst said the council's decision, which he had suggested, had "upset me terribly" when he thought about it afterward, particularly as the cost was already included in the budget.

So the council agreed to retract and allow Usher time off and expenses to attend the conference in New Orleans next month, and McBride similar privileges to visit Minneapolis next week.

Corte Madera Town Council Also:

CONTRACT — Awarded contract to A and J Shooter of San Rafael who bid $6,876 for turfing northwest section of the town park. Cagwin and Dorward bid $7,373 and Valley Crest Landscape $8,867.

APPROVED — Gave approval to a plan for a city-county services committee to the planning commission and also endorsed the drug abuse bureau agreement.

SWEEPING — Granted a request that the town sweep private streets in Mariner Green at a cost to developers Lytton Savings and Loan Association of $107 a month.

Innocent Pleas To Burglary Count

Innocent pleas to a joint charge of burglary were entered in Marin Superior Court yesterday by Robert Russell Betterton, 42, and Wilbur Rodgers, 32.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner scheduled jury trial for the week of Oct. 23.

Youth Arraigned In Petty Theft

A Santa Venetia youth, Bradley M. Zappa, 18, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a misdemeanor charge of petty theft.

Zappa, of 10 La Brea Way, allegedly took a radio from Turrini's Auto Salvage on Smith Ranch Road Sunday. Plea entry was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Monday.

The A.L. Scramble

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston's Jones boy and Minnesota's Jim-dandy are sitting pretty today, but it's still four for the seesaw in the American League pennant playground.

The Red Sox outslugged Detroit 6-5 on Dalton Jones' 10th inning homer, the Twins squeezed past Kansas City 2-0 on Jim Kaat's 10-inning six-hitter and California unseated the Chicago White Sox 3-2 in last night's renewal of the Great Race.

When the dust settled, the Red Sox, Tigers and Twins all had a piece of first place. It was a four-way deadlock until Rick Reichardt's RBI single in the ninth inning at Anaheim sent the White Sox reeling all the way to fourth place . . . one-half game off the pace.

Jones, a former bonus baby making only his third start this month, beat the Tigers with his fourth hit of the night after Carl Yastrzemski's 40th homer pulled Boston even in the ninth. It was the Red Sox' first victory in four starts.

Yastrzemski, who paces the league in homers and RBI, also drilled a double and single to wrest the batting lead from Baltimore's Frank Robinson with a .314 mark.

Jones' homer was his third of the year — and second at Detroit. He beat the Tigers 1-0 last May 24 with a homer and six of his 18 careers blasts have been hit against Detroit pitching. "Everybody will tell you he's got a favorite park — this is it for me," he said.

"We spot Jones here and there," said Manager Dick Williams. "He always hit well in this ball park."

"Sure, Jones has hit this club over the years," countered Mayo Smith, the Tigers' pilot. "But I'll tell you one thing. Boston didn't win the pennant tonight.

"This race is just a tread-

England Next Challenger?

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — America retains her grip on some of her more prized possessions, such as the gold in Ft. Knox, the Liberty Bell—and the America's Cup.

Yachting's Holy Grail, which has never left these shores in the 116 years of its existance, will remain on the shelf of the New York Yacht Club for at least another three years. Intrepid, the American cup defender, saw to that yesterday by giving the Australian challenger, Dame Pattie, her fourth and final defeat.

The winless Dame put up a game fight in moderate winds which she was designed for but, as Jock Sturrock, her skipper, said after the race: "We didn't go fast enough.

"When we arrived in the United States, we were confident, but we knew we had a tremendous task. But there is no doubt the best man, the best crew and the best boat won the America's Cup."

Intrepid's helmsman, Bus Mosbacher, dripping after being tossed into the harbor by his victorious crew, agreed.

"Our feeling is one of almost awe with the boat and sails we were given to work with. There is no question in my mind we had the fastest 12-meter yacht in the world and the best crew in the world."

Undaunted by America's decisive 20th straight defense of the cup, the British challenged for the trophy minutes after Commodore Percy Chubb of the New York Yacht Club stepped ashore.

The challenge, for 1970, came from the Royal Dorset Yacht Club of Weymouth, England. It was signed by Vice Commodore Gordon Wallace, and while it did not say so, presumably represents a syndicate composed of British yachtsman Owen Aisher and Australian sheep rancher John Livingston, who financed Kurrewa as an unsuccessful candidate for the 1962 challenge.

Another challenge is expected from Baron Marcel Bich, a Frenchman. France never has challenged before.

Any challenge received within the next 30 days will receive equal consideration under the cup rules.

William Strawbridge, head of the Intrepid syndicate, said Baron Bich had offered to buy the victorious American sloop. But Strawbridge said "Intrepid is not for sale at this time and certainly not to any foreign country."

Monday's race finally brought the conditions the Australians were waiting for: 12-knot winds from the southwest that moderated to 10 at the race's end.

Cardinals Made Prophet Out Of Schoendienst

JACK HANLEY

Herman Talking More Like '68 Giants' Pilot

CHICAGO — Herman Franks is talking more and more like he is coming back next year as manager of the Giants.

A week ago he prefaced all comments about 1968 plans of the Giants with "If I'm back . . ."

NOW, HE NO LONGER uses that phrase in discussing "what we got to do next year."

"You are talking now like a manager who has a new contract in his pocket," he was told. "Have you already signed?"

"NO," SAID FRANKS who conveyed the definite impression that he wouldn't hestitate a moment in signing another one-year deal with Horace Stoneham.

He's Interested In Contract

It wasn't so long ago that Franks parried all inquiries about his 1968 plans with such comments as "I don't know, yet," "I haven't made up my mind, yet."

But now there is no doubt that he already has told his boss that he would warmly welcome a new one-year offer. Whether he is on the road with the team or in Candlestick Park, Franks invariably has a daily talk with Stoneham. They are good friends.

"FRIENDSHIP HAS NOTHING to do with it," said Franks. "Horace knows how I feel. And I think I know pretty well what his aim is — surrounding himself with the best baseball men available for the good of the Giants. And that goes for the manager, especially."

Franks Wants No Other Team

Franks isn't interested in managing any club other than the Giants even if he had an offer. At least, he never has indicated any desire in that direction.

DURING THE WEEKEND when the Giants were in Pittsburgh for their final season series in Forbes Field, speculation about the 1968 manager of the Pirates included a list as long as the candidates running for that congressional seat in San Mateo County.

But Franks' name was not among those listed and Al Abrams, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, called this to Franks' attention.

"Do you realize you are about the only one who hasn't applied for the job?" Abrams asked Franks who merely smiled.

Hopes For Bringing A Winner

The Giants may have had big problems this year when Willie Mays was stricken with the flu and Juan Marichal was lost for the last two months to a hamstring muscle pull. But the Pirates had even bigger problems with their entire pitching staff which seems to need a complete overhauling.

NATURALLY, FRANKS is well aware of the tough job that faces the next Pirate manager and he wants no part of it. But he would definitely like another try with the Giants. He believes he could bring them home a winner in 1968.

THE PENNANT HUG—St. Louis Cardinal pitcher Bob Gibson is mobbed by teammates and fans after stopping the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, clinching the National League pennant for the Cards. (UPI Telephoto)

Gibson's Victory Is Flag Clincher

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Manager Red Schoendienst said in the spring that the St. Louis Cardinals would win the 1967 National League pennant. The Cardinals made him a prophet in September.

"I told only one guy in the spring that we were going to win," disclosed Schoendienst as he stood in the middle of the St. Louis dressing room watching his players use champagne bottles for fire hoses, dousing everyone in sight.

"It was in Fort Myers," Schoendienst related. "We were playing the Pirates and I told Danny Murtaugh, 'don't tell anybody, but we're going to win the pennant.' If you don't believe it, ask Danny."

Schoendienst should have told his old roomie, Stan Musial, who now is his boss as Cardinal general manager. Musial, his suit wet with the bubbly stuff, shaving cream across the back, confessed he felt the Red Birds were a first division team.

GIBSON WINS

The Cardinals clinched the flag last night with a 5-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies as Bob Gibson pitched a three-hitter. A four-run sixth inning after being held hitless for five by lefty Dick Ellsworth did the trick. Julian Javier singled home what turned out to be the winning run.

Schoendienst said the secret to the Cardinals' 11th pennant was the ability to pick each other up when it was necessary. The club lost pitcher Ray Washburn with a broken thumb, outfielder Curt Flood with a torn shoulder muscle and Gibson Flood and even helped at first base for a while when Orlando Cepeda was hurt," Schoendienst said. "Nelson Briles came out of the bullpen to help when Gibson was injured. Our young pitchers made up for the loss of Washburn."

PICKED UP

Schoendienst recalled that when Gibson was felled by a line drive off the bat of Roberto Clemente July 15 "the club was down. I said 'why can't we pick up for Gibson,' and Briles came out of the bullpen and did the job."

The trade for Roger Maris, acquired from the New York Yankees, also came in for comment from the manager. "It enabled us to move Mike Shannon to third base where he did a great job. He worked hard at it. And Maris got some big hits for us and did well defensively."

Schoendienst had special praise for Dick Hughes, the 29-year-old rookie pitcher. "I felt all along that Hughes would be one of our best pitchers."

Musial, who roomed with Schoendienst in 1946 when the Cardinals won the pennant, complimented his manager on a great job.

"He stuck in there with our young pitchers" said Musial. "He didn't try to overmanage, you know what I mean. He was perfect for this group."

Musial said this club turned out like the 1942 Cardinals, "aggressive and hungry with great spirit. It was a veteran team, too. You know every one played in the 1964 World Series.

SURPRISE

"Nobody figured we could do it this easy though," Musial admitted, noting the Cardinals' 13-game lead with 11 left to play.

Gibson said his arm wasn't in top shape although he has won three rstaight since recovering from his broken leg. "I need another outing and it will be all right," said Gibson.

Asked if he was ready to pitch the World Series opener, Gibson replied, "I'm always ready for that."

He said there was no pressure on him last night. "We needed only one game. We knew we were going to win it, if not tonight, tomorrow night or the next night. We weren't going to lose them all."

The Cardinals either held or were tied for first place since June 17, they took the lead for good on July 25.

Now they'll await the end of the torrid American League race among Chicago, Detroit, Boston and Minnesota to determine their opponent in the World Series next month.

The Cardinals lead all National League clubs with seven Series victories in 10 previous tries, including its seven-game victory over the Yankees in 1964.

An Optimistic Ray Willsey

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The most optimistic college football coach in the nation has to be Ray Willsey, of the University of California at Berkeley.

His team last season won only three out of 10. His team this season — one he he is rebuilding — managed to get by its opener, 21-13, over Oregon because the defense recovered a fumble and intercepted two passes.

Saturday Willsey's Bears go to South Bend, Ind., for the first of 10 games on a schedule Notre Dame is expected to sweep, along with claiming No. 1 college football honors in the nation.

The Northern California Football Writers Association expected Willsey to tell its luncheon yesterday that the Bears would try to make the score respectable.

Willsey astounded the writers by saying in all sincerity "we think we even have a chance to beat Notre Dame."

Willsey, asked if his Bears were awed by knowing they were about to play one of the best teams in the country, said: "The players feel as I do that it's an undertaking we are looking forward to."

Cal's Irby Augustine, who ran back an intercepted pass to a touchdown against Oregon, and the University of San Francisco's Mike Donohoe, who caught nine passes for 225 yards and two touchdowns in a losing effor against Chico State, were co-linemen of the week in Northern California. USF plays Claremont-Mudd in Claremont next Saturday.

Back-of-the-week honors went to Jack Layland, the hard-working fullback who helped University of the Pacific beat the University of Idaho 42-6.

Stanford — The Indians, losers 13-7 to Oregon State, will use junior Mark Marquess, of Stockton, at quarterback against Kansas at Stanford Saturday. That's because senior Chuck Williams, of Ventura, hurt his ankle in the Beaver game.

San Jose State — Despite the Spartans' 27-16 loss of the opener to Arizona State at Tempe, Coacy Harry Anderson feels if his offense improves, the game next Saturday night in San Jose against powerful University of Texas-El Paso could be a close one.

Santa Clara — Coach Pat Malley said the 24-16 upset of Fresno State gave him and his Santa Clara Broncos the biggest shot in the arm since Santa Clara decided in 1959 to revive football.

San Francisco State — Coach Vic Rowan felt his San Francisco State players "showed a lot of courage and refused to quit" in their come-from-behind 31-14 victory over Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. While conceding that Long Beach State will be just as formidable in San Francisco Saturday, "our kids will respond good."

St. Mary's — The Galloping Gaels, returning to football after an absence of 17 years, will keep to the junior varsity level this season, opening Sept. 30. Coach George Galli says his talent includes Greg and Jim Huarte, brothers of Notre Dame's great John Huarte, now playing for the Boston Patriots of the American Football League.

It's Official: Wait Until Next Year

CHICAGO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants lost the pennant sitting in a Chicago hotel yesterday.

For 762 miles to the east, the St. Louis Cardinals squashed the Philadelphia Phillies 5-1 to capture the National League crown and erase a San Francisco dream which began in spring training.

It was in Casa Grande, Ariz., the Giants' spring headquarters, that the power-rich San Franciscans were made the co-favorites with Pittsburgh to win the flag.

But, as the record books now attest, the hitters needed oiling, the infield needed tightening, the pitching needed adrenaline and the bookies needed a new set of odds. The Pirates, currently in sixth place, were even more disappointing.

Gaylord Perry, finishing with race horse speed after a dismal start, got a shot at his 15th victory and the chance to balance his 15 losses. The third-place Cubs nominated Bill Hands (7-7).

NOTRE DAME NO. 1

Trojans, UCLA Move Up

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Victories by Southern California and UCLA during college football's initial big weekend have moved the West Coast teams into solid positions in the Associated Press poll.

The first poll of the regular 1967 season finds the Trojans in fourth place, a gain of three positions over their preseason rankings, and the Bruins in the No. 6 spot, two places higher than in the pre-campaign estimate.

Notre Dame, Alabama and Michigan State are 1-2-3 in that order, the same positions they occupied in the preseason ratings. The three play their first games this week-end, the Irish against California, Alabama against Florida State and the Spartans against Houston.

Texas i sfifth while Georgia is in the No. 7 slot followed by Miami, Fla., Colorado and Nebraska.

Southern California overwhelmed Washington 49-0 last Friday night while UCLA edged Tennessee 20-16 the following night, winning in the final quarter on Gary Beban's 27-yard rollout for a touchdown. The Volunteers had been ranked ninth in the preseason poll.

In the initial season balloting by 36 sports writers and broadcasters on the AP's national panel, Notre Dame collected 22 votes for first place and 309 points on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

Alabama was named the top team on seven ballots and had 263 points while Michigan State had 209 points. Notre Dame won the national championship last season while Michigan State placed second in the final poll.

Colorado, 10th in the preseason ballot, advanced one notch after defeating Baylor 27-7 in its opening game. Nebraska replaced Tennessee in the rankings after downing Washington, 17-7.

In addition to the top three teams, three others also make their season debuts this week-end. Texas opens against Southern Cal, Georgia plays Mississippi and Miami beets Northwestern.

UCLA is at Pittsburgh and Colorado is at Oregon while Nebraska has an open date.

The voting with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. Notre Dame (22)	0-0 309
2. Alabama (7)	0-0 263
3. Michigan State (1)	0-0 209
4. Southern California	1-0 184
5.Texas (2)	0-0 175
6. UCLA (3)	1-0 170
7. Georgia	0-0 124
8. Miami, Fla.	0-0 114
9. Colorado	1-0 102
10. Nebraska (1)	1-0 88

JIM MURRAY

Mr. Mitty And Murray Meet Bus Mosbacher

It all began with the back. I let out a scream just getting out of bed. "You see," my wife scolded. "What's a man your age doing swimming in that rough surf?"

Doc Woods didn't say it, but you could see he thought it. "Take two of these every four hours. You've pulled a flank muscle loose from the spinal column It's very painful. At your age."

When this happens, I take my pills and lie back in the half-world of medication and play my little game of "Pocketa, Pocketa."

("SURE, SKIP, what if the bases are loaded and it's the seventh game? That's only Robinson up there, isn't it? Give me that old apple and if he even HEARS IT, I'll buy you a dinner. Now, go get the champagne ready and tell Gabby to call for the hammer 'cause that's all I'll need.")

("The Green Bay Packers? Coach, tell Bucky to lose Adderley on a little post pattern and I'll see you in the Super Bowl. Which eye do you want me to hit Bucky in, Coach? Hey, Lombardi, how you gonna explain this one back at the Oneida Country Club? Here, Bucky, DON'T BLINK YOUR EYE and this'll be on 'Countdown To Kickoff' for seven years!")

MY BACK TWINGES. So this year I realize I don't want to be Roman Gabriel or Bob Gibson. This is the year to be Bus Mosbacher.

("All right, lads, all hands before the mast! Not for nothing did Boats and Yachting magazine call me the greatest skipper on a point, a reach or a run since Lord Nelson. Now, hearken and we'll send these wallabies back to racing Snipes by Monday. Let me see the cut of that jib! Where's the apparent wind? I'll tack her 86 times on the windward leg so anybody who has doughnuts for breakfast carry a bucket. Get a light up in those telltales — if there's light air, don't worry I won the Bermuda race one year catching a bird's breath in the ship's laundry. I can make seven knots in weather so light you could keep a candle lit aloft. I want the spinnaker set in 13 seconds when we round the mark or I'll scuttle this old tub and all in it. No. Mosbacher, I'll handle the helm. All I want you to do is watch out for icebergs. These scalawags from Sydney will think they're sailing a bathtub or Cleopatra's barge before I'm through with them. They won't even be in the same latitude with us.")

I SUPPOSE THE GUY a real Walter Mitty would rather be than even Bus Mosbacher is the captain who started the America's Cup in the first place in 1851.

In those days, challengers had to sail over on their own bottoms to the contest and the original "America" was no light-weather spinnaker runner but a 170-ton schooner which came after the Queen's "100 Guineas Cup" through the icebergs of the North Atlantic. Her remarkable story is told in a one-hour documentary by producer-director Gerald Schnitzer in "Sail to Glory."

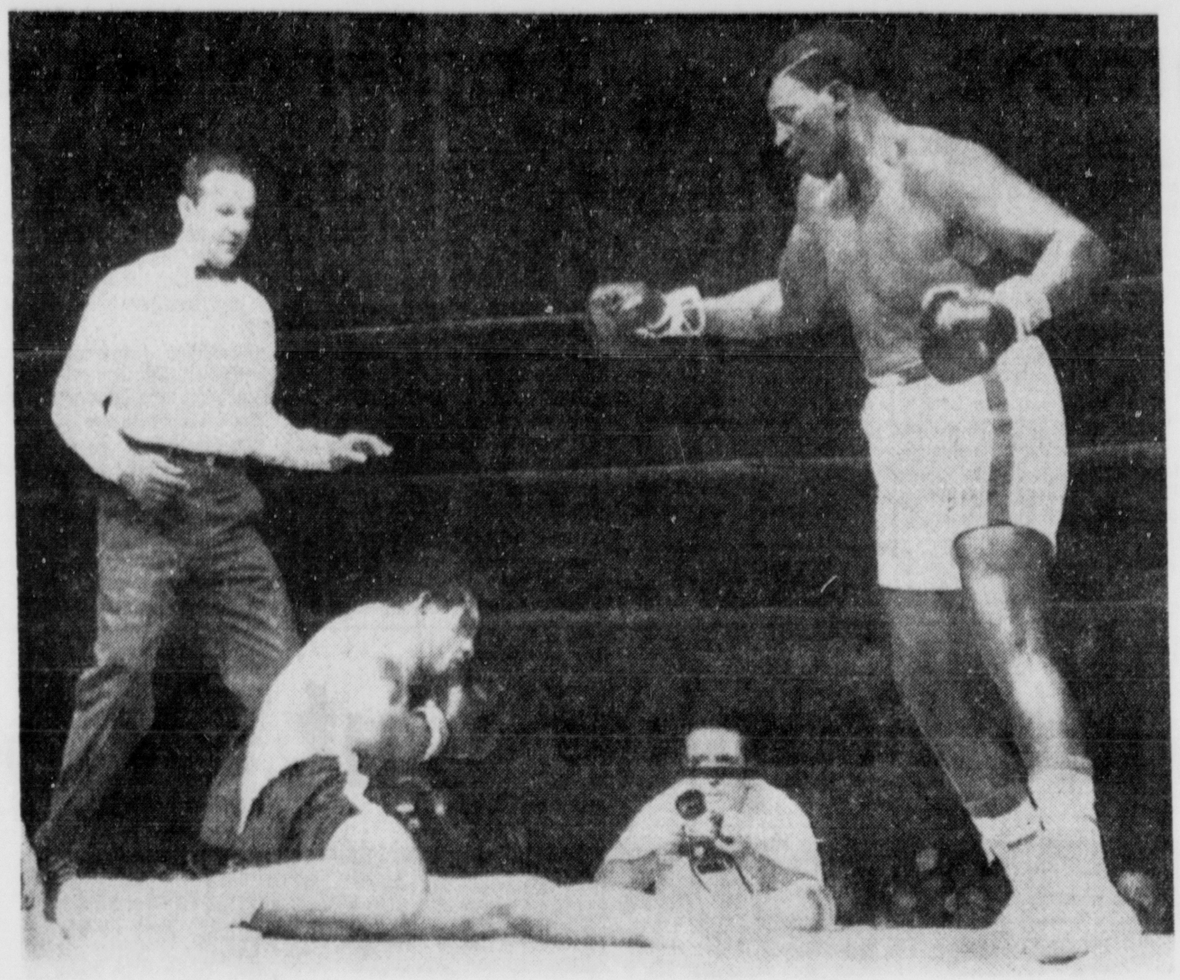
HER HERO WAS a John Wayne - type character named Dick Brown who had run a New York harbor pilot schooner in the days when the fastest pilot out got the job of berthing the big liners.

Brown was a laconic man outfitted by the New York Yacht Club and weighted down with bets to make on himself against the best Queen Victoria's Royal Yacht Squadron could throw against him. The British wised up quickly when the escort boat tried to outspeed the "America" into port. The "America" cracked her sheets and soon all of England knew that Britannia's rule of the waves was only a song.

CAPTAIN BROWN made the flower of British sailing "haul their wind" and limp for shore in his wake in a race round the Isle of Wight in which he lost a jib boom in mid-race. The rumor spread through England that the accursed colonists had rigged "an infernal device" in her hull but the "infernal device" was topside in the person of Cap'n Brown. His log was a masterpiece of seamanly understatement in the tradition of "Sighted sub — sank same." Three lines long, it dismissed history with "8:30 — We took up our position. 12:50 — Our jib adrift. 8:34 — The Queen gave us 10 pounds to entertain the crew."

THE "AMERICA" was later a blockader and blockade-runner in the Civil War, captured and recaptured by both sides, and she sank in her own shrouds in a snowstorm on land in 1945. She delivered the "Auld Mug" to the New York Club 116 years, 250 million dollars and 5 wars ago.

It was at her victory that Queen Victoria testily demanded "Who was second?" and a royal commander sadly rejoined, "Your Majesty, there is no second," a lesson that seems lost on skippers of today's America.



A FIFTH FOR MARSH—Ron Marsh of Shawnee, Kans., lies prone on the canvas after going down for the fifth time while victor Buster Mathis stands over him. Action took place in the fourth round of their heavyweight bout in Madison Square Garden. (AP Wirephoto)

Mathis Is After Frazier

NEW YORK (AP) — Undefeated Buster Mathis and Joe Frazier, amateur rivals in the Olympic Trials three years ago, appear to be heading on a collision course in the pro ranks today.

"I want Frazier," bellowed Buster, trimmed down to a svelte 239½ pounds, after he dropped 186-pound Ron Marsh five times in stopping the fighting Kansas schoolteacher in 1:13 of the fourth round at Madison Square Garden last night.

The one-time 300-pound blimp may get Frazier but not right away. Frazier, 17-0, ranked first by Ring Magazine and eighth by the World Boxing Association, has an Oct. 17 date with Tony Dohle in Philadelphia. He saw Buster's debut as Garden main eventer.

Buster, now 21-0 with 15 knockouts but unranked, may take on faded Brian London of Britain for promoter Ingemar Johansson in Stockholm or Goteborg in late October or early November. Johansson, the former heavyweight champion, saw Buster demolish the outweighed, outgunned and outsped Marsh and then talked business with Jimmy Iselin.

Iselin is Mathis' manager and one of a syndicate of wealthy young men backing the 32-year-old thick-necked giant from Grand Rapids. Frazier has a similar syndicate behind him in Philadelphia.

"The London fight is a possibility," said Iselin. "Buster is ready to step up. The Garden also has some fights in mind but we'd like Frazier. He's ready for him."

Mathis beat Frazier in the Olympic Trials in 1964 and then beat the Philadelphian again shortly afterwards in a workout in California (at Hamilton Air Force Base). But Buster broke a thumb and Frazier replaced him on the team.

Corte Maderan Wins Boat Race

Dr. Chris Peetz of Corte Madera took Class A honors in the Metropolitan Yacht Club's Over the Bottom Race from Oakland through the San Francisco Bay and back last Sunday.

Dr. Peetz navigated his power cruiser "Too-Much" to a first-place finish in the annual Northern California power Cruiser Association race over a 15-mile course.

State Game Wardens Catching Naughty Central Coast Anglers

STEVENS

It's hard to believe, but it's true — 112 persons in California's central coastal region were tabbed by game wardens and given citations for fishing without licenses during August. For shame, you naughty ones.

The cost of an angling license is very, very little when you consider that the average fisherman can land enough fish at the present time to offset the amount he would ordinarily put out for meat. Addording to reports of happenings this past week, whether you went out after salmon, rockfish, stripers or trout, your chances are pretty good of loading the larder with legal game.

For example — I note the boat Jennie C out of Caruso's Sausalito Harbor unloaded 30 salmon to 22 pounds on Saturday, the same day the boat Marion registered nine limits, the Sunfish had six, the Hurrican, 24 and the Ma Ruu took 23 salmon to 33 pounds. Most of the fish were caught off Rocky Point.

I ASKED MINNIE CARUSO if any boats were featuring striped bass, but apparently only the smaller, private craft went after the bass. Production was reported fair to good off South Tower. It had been pretty good through the week just past.

The news of striper striving is good — as proved by the report from Lee Anderson's boat, bait and tackle shop in Oakland. Sunday, the Cherokee netted seven limits to 18 pounds, the R.S.P. also boated seven limits, with the top fish going 21 pounds.

Best bet seems to have been live-bait drifting and regular trolling with hardware (Hot lures were Hula Skirts and Big Daddy Spoon.)

I NOTED that the Hazel B, out of Lee Anderson's, boated nine salmon to 30 pounds with four rods working. The Hawk landed 24 salmon to 23 pounds and the Duke No. 2 took 10 stripers to 22 pounds.

Joe Wun of the Castro Valley Sports Center reported the young anglers in South County have been doing quite well catching crappies in Lake Chabot. The kids have been using the "Trout Crawler" lure mostly. Black bass are hiding in the nearby reservoirs, need a spell of colder weather to activate them.

SOME UNVERIFIED (but probably true) reports indicate some fair trolling for bass in the Racoon Strait.

The Klamath River (Lower part) is really hot at present on both salmon and steelhead. Upstream in the Happy Camp area, Jim Roads reports better fishing each passing day.

Anyone interested in an albacore trip should have a ball following the commercial fleet out of Fort Bragg. Apparently there is a tremendous school of Chicken-of-the Sea about 100 miles off shore. One boat came into the Noya Harbor with 29 tons of albacore — unloaded in the Alameda Harbor. Boats from Oregon and Washington are in on the cleanup.

mill."

Yastrzemski's ninth inning shot against Fred Lasher gave the Red Sox a lift after Norm Cash poled two homers for Detroit and Jim Northrup's run-scoring double in the eighth gave the Tigers a 5-4 edge.

"In that situation, I was going for the home run," Yaz said. "There was no doubt about it."

Kaat, who went into the Kansas City game with an 0-4 season record against the last-place A's, held them in check and struck out 12 before Ted Uhlaender's single and an error by centerfielder Joe Nossek sent two runs home in the 10th.

Jim Catfish Hunter, who scattered three hits until the 10th, was the loser as the Twins ended a three-game tailspin.

"I was due for some luck against these guys," said Kaat, who has won five straight for a 14-13 mark.

"He's given us some good ones this month," chirped Manager Cal Ermer, "and this was one of the biggest ones yet."

The White Sox managed just one hit against California rookie Ricky Clark until the eighth inning, when Jim Fregosi's error helped them push over two unearned runs for a 2-2 tie.

But Don Mincher singled against Chicago relief ace Bob Locker with one out in the ninth and pinch runner Roger Repoz tagged up and made second on Jimmie Hall's long fly to center. Reichardt then came through with the winning hit to center.

Dave McNally, making his first start in a month, and relievers John Buzhardt and Bill Dillman combined to blank the Yankees on six hits. Singles by Dave Johnson and Curt Blefray delivered the Oriole runs.

YACHTS

Both yachts received a deafening salute from the few spectator craft which stuck it out to the end. Back in Newport, Intrepid's champagne-guzzling crew threw every one in sight into the harbor including several members of the race committee, braided yachting blazers, caps and all. Their smiles on surfacing seemed almost as chilly as the water.

Burch's Record Falls In Minors

Frank Burch, the lone Marin County man in the minors, must be feeling the loneliness.

He is getting touched by enemy batters in the New York-Pennsylvania A League, with a showing of one loss, nine walks, five hits allowed last week in eight innings of work for Batavia, bringing his earned run average up to 4.84.

Injury Will Keep Mira Out Of 49ers' Lineup

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Number two quarterback George Mira of the San Francisco 49ers will be hospitalized "four or five days" with a knee sprain received in the 27-21 win over Minnesota last Sunday.

Dr. Lloyd Milburn would not predict how long Mira will be sidelined but observers feared that Mira could be out of action a month.

That could put rookie Steve Spurrier under the gun quickly should starter John Brodie get hurt or need a rest next Sunday against Atlanta at Kezar Stadium.

BROKEN HAND

But reserve defensive back Goose Gonsoulin, hurt in the Viking game, will be at full speed for the Falcons. So will 49er receiving ace Dave Parks, who missed the Viking game with a muscle pull, and full-back Ken Willard, who played against the Vikes but still was not at top speed because of a foot sprain.

RUNNING GAME

He said that Parks' unexpected injury and the recent arrival in camp by newly-obtained Sonny Randle meant that the team would have to run against the Vikes. Big backs Willard, John David Crow, and Gary Lewis, speedster Doug Cunningham and the offensive line all came through.

Randle and second-year man Dick Witcher helped out with some key catches and the 49ers had a victory, even though the Vikes almost stole the decision with a big fourth-quarter comeback.

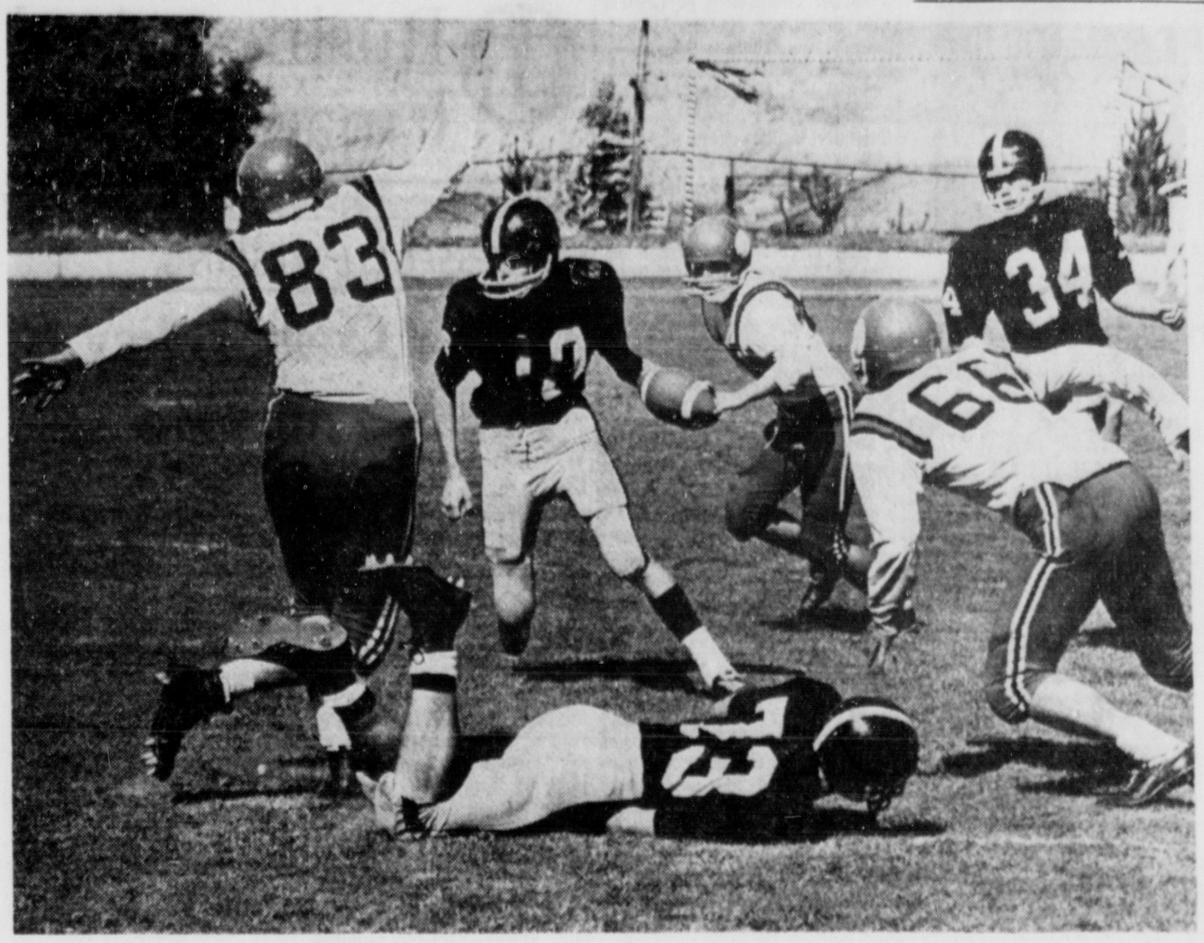
GUESS WHO WON? — It wasn't Washington of San Francisco as these delirious Redwood High School pom-pon girls and fans indicate at the end of the Giants' game against Washington, with the score reading 39-6 in Redwood's favor last Friday.



LOOKING FOR DAYLIGHT — Novato's Mark Newsome, chucking the ball like a hot egg, looks for some daylight running room as Salesian defenders close in on him. Unable to help are teammates John Duran (34) and Ron Sparling (73). The Hornets won, 20-6.

Full Slate For Prep Gridders

Marin County Athletic League football teams, fresh from an exhilirating 4-2 opening week of practice games, goes for another round of battles with strange faces this weekend, the last before opening of league play.

While MCAL teams continue their practice slate, College of Marin opens its 1967 season at Kentfield against San Jose City College Friday night at 8 o'clock.

In other games, Tomales, an impressive 52-0 winner in its opener, is in Petaluma to battle St. Vincents, Friday night Marin Catholic tries for two in a row against St. Elizabeth's in Oakland Saturday and San Rafael Military Academy hosts Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park Saturday afternoon.

A couple of MCAL foes will be battered but familiar.

Salesian of Richmond, a surprise 20-6 loser to Novato last week, tries its hand against Tamalpais on the Indians' home ground Friday afternoon. Both teams will be looking for their first win and an offense that works.

ROUGHIE

Petaluma, which had the misfortune to land the Drake Pirates last week (31-13 loss), heads into what could be more of the same when it hosts Novato Friday night.

San Rafael, a heart-break victim in a 6-0 loss to Canyon last week, hosts Mel Gray-less Montgomery of Santa Rosa Saturday night.

Redwood, in a quick rebuilding year after a 39-6 romp over Washington, tries for another scalp when it hosts McClymonds of Oakland at Kentfield Saturday afternoon.

Terr Linda, undaunted winner over Santa Rosa and penalties last week, tries to hang up another victim in Polytechnic of San Francisco at San Rafael Friday night.

The biggest collision in the area will come when Drake is host to perennial powerhouse Vallejo at Kentfield Saturday night.

Chubasco Wins First Yacht Race

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Chubasco, a 67-foot sloop from the Newport Harbor Yacht Club, yesterday won the opening battle in the first of four races for the St. Francis Yacht Club's Perpetual Trophy.

Don Haskell's sloop beat defending champion Baruna skippered by Jim Michael of Belvedere, from the host St. Francis Yacht Club. Chubasco's corrected time was 2 hours, 44 minutes, 56 seconds to Baruna's 2:47.30. Third was Kialoa II, also from the Newport Harbor Yacht Club, with a corrected time of 2:47.33.

The next race in the series will be tomorrow afternoon.

626 Series Highlights Nave Series

Bruce rolled a 626 series topped by a 242 line in the Novato Merchants League. Bill Henderson of the 905 Travel League was runner-up with a 620 series.

The women this week were still trying to match Nita Moore's big 666 series and 245 game rolled Sept. 11.

Polish Athlete Called 'Unfortunate Victim'

COMBINED AP & UPI

WARSAW, Poland — Ewa Klobukowska, star Polish runner disqualified by a sex test from the European Cup track and field finals, was described by teammates today as an unfortunate victim of point-hungry sports officials.

The blonde 20-year-old athlete, co-holder of two women's world records, will simply fade out of competitive sports, but she has a good chance to live a normal life as a woman, friends said.

The Polish athletes said Miss Klobukowska is a girl with some hormone trouble who should have been given treatments instead of being exposed to public competition.

"There are many such girls and officials are wise enough not to let them compete internationally, but our officials were stupid enough to think they could get away with it," one said bitterly.

GOLF

LONDON — Arnold Palmer, Gay Brewer and Billy Casper were named for an eight-man world match play golf tournament at Westworth next month.

CINCINNATI — Kathy Whitworth, bidding for a third consecutive money winning championship, increased her earnings to $24,487 or, $4,000 more than runnerup Carol Mann, according to figures released today by the Ladies Professional Golf Association.

BASKETBALL

PHILADELPHIA — A spokesman for the Philadelphia 76ers announced that Wilt Chamberlain, their 7-foot-1 star center, had not reported to the NBA team's training camp and officially became a holdout.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

WORCHESTER, Mass. — Hal Carroll, 173, Syracuse, N.Y., stopped Clarence Hinnant, 178, Washington, 5.

HALIFAX, N.S. — Dave Downey, 159, Halifax, outpointed Jim Meilleur, 157½, New York, 12.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Zora Folley, 217, Chandler, Ariz., stopped Wayne Kindred, 190, Pasadena, Calif., 8.

Clippers Triumph Over Stars

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Three goals by Edgar Marin powered the league champion Oakland Clippers to a 6-3 victory over the St. Louis Stars in the Challenge Cup game of the National Professional Soccer League last night before a crowd of 8,415.

Marin tallied three straight goals, the third one coming early in the second half, to give the Clippers a commanding 5-1 lead.

The Clippers had defeated Baltimore in a two-game series for the first-place championship a week ago while St. Louis topped Philadelphia in the second-place playoff.

St. Louis' Joe Fuhrmann gave Oakland its first goal when he accidentally deflected a ball into the Stars' open net. Oakland's other goals were scored by George Lievano and Sale Milosevic.

Bora Kostic scored two of St. Louis' goals and Norb Porgebta scored the other.

Sikes Moves Up In Golf Winnings

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Dan Sikes' $22,000 first place purse in the Philadelphia Classic hiked him to sixth place in pro golf's top 10 money winners, according to unofficial PGA standings.

The win boosted Sikes' total to a respectable $112,693 but still far short of the front running Jack Nicklaus and second place Arnold Palmer.

Carousel Too, A New Beauty Salon, Opens On B Street

A new beauty salon has been opened at 905 B Street, San Rafael.

This is the former Beautiette of Mrs. Ray Amonini — She has sold to Christine Ghilotti, owner of Carousel Beauty Salon, and Lois Allread, who has been working at Carousel.

For their new operation they have a fitting name. It's called Carousel Too — with that spelling.

AMONG THE BANKS. Calvin F. Rossi of San Rafael observed his 40th anniversary with the Bank of America last Saturday. He currently manages the Harbor branch in San Francisco, a position he assumed 20 years ago. Clarence M. Stratton of Marinwood, head of the new accounts section of Pacific National Bank of San Francisco, has been elected an assistant cashier.

Mrs. Abrams

Henry

SOLON REALTY, INC., Corte Madera is now more than 80 per cent staffed by women (five of them). In fact, the only man on the scene is manager Jack Abrams. Latest one to join his sales staff is wife Helen. This is her first job in real estate — she was previously a secretary in San Francisco for the Board of Education.

FORMER SAN ANSELMO resident Rene A. Henry Jr., now vice president and Los Angeles director of Daniel J. Edelman, Inc., public relations agency, has been presented an Award of Merit by House and Home Magazine for work as project director of a research house built at Peacock Gap. Designed by Robert Martin Engelbrecht, the house had been selected as Record House of 1966 by Architectural Record Magazine.

EDMOND C. WARD of Greenbrae is now with the San Rafael law firm of Bagley, Bernt, Bianchi and Sheeks. A Marin resident since 1931, he has been with the estate and gift tax division of the Internal Revenue Service. Before that he practiced law for a number of years in both San Francisco and San Rafael.

PHILLIP R. WEINMAN of Ross, after 40 years as an agent and having reached the age of 86, has merged his business with the Fred A. Banducci agency in San Rafael. He hired Banducci for his first insurance position many years ago. Weinmann will continue working as actively as possible and in a counseling capacity.

OTHER INSURANCE. Joe Wittenmeier of Home Life Insurance Co., Mill Valley, left today with his wife Claire for insurance meetings in London and Paris. They will take some free time for a tour covering England, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Italy and France. . . . Charles L. Moore of Novato, with the C. O. Le Rud Agency, has returned from a career conference of Central Life Insurance at Des Moines, Iowa. . . . Thomas M. Irvine of San Rafael is hotel arrangements chairman for the Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters meetings and seminars this week in San Francisco. He is marketing secretary of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies in the city. . . . Norman E. Dean of Mill Valley has qualified for Minnesota Mutual Life's Polaris Club. He was among 30 "rookie" sales leaders honored at the company's conference in St. Paul, Minn., last week.

AMONG THE AGENCIES. Ronald R. Wren of Lucas Valley has had his San Francisco advertising agency appointed to handle Pacific Western Contractors, Inc., developer of shopping centers — and also the Bay City College of Dental-Medical Assistants and its affiliated schools . . . Harold Ford of Terra Linda, vice president of merchandising for Honig, Cooper and Harrington, San Francisco, will be chairman of the day on Friday for a lunch meeting of the Merchandising Executives Club at the Fairmont Hotel.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Don't Cash Policy For Speculation

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "We are young, have a combined income of $1,000 a month which fluctuates, and have three small children. My husband has $12,000 in life insurance and I've discouraged buying more, since I'm continuing to work. We have a savings account and are buying a mutual fund at the rate of $75 a month. Part of my husband's insurance is paid up with cash value of $2,520. We are considering taking this cash to invest in speculative stocks. What is your advice? C.G.

A. You seem to be a pretty happy family, with fine children and commensurate responsibilities. I believe that cashing in your husband's paid-up insurance policies would be a grave error, since you have little enough protection now in the event of his death. To do so and put the money into specualtive stocks would compound the error, in my honest opinion.

Most speculative issues have run up sharply since last October — excessively so, in many instances. I believe you should consider adding to your insurance protection before doing any further investing. If you can accumulate additional funds, I would consider only high-quality stocks of established growth status to help provide capital for your children's education. In this category I place such issues as American Home Products; Sterling Drug; Plough, Inc.

Q. "Do you feel the same way about Bunker Hill as you do about Benguet?" L. K.

A. Definitely no. Benguet is a gold producer in the Philippines subject to subsidy payments and all other policies of that government. The shares have tripled in price on active speculative buying of low-priced shares. There seem to be too many elements of risk here for the ordinary investor. Bunker Hill is an important domestic producer of lead, zinc and silver. Higher prices for the latter metal have largely been offset by reductions in lead and zinc. The shares seem moderately attractive as a speculation in silver, now in a basic upward price trend.

LONG CLEAN LINES IN BUICK ELECTRA

Most apparent change at the front of the Electra for 1968 is the twin air intake grille and new hood top molding. Power brakes and steering are now standard, as is the turbine automatic transmission. Power is provided by Buick's 430 cubic inch V-8 engine. Cars will go on display Thursday at Don Collins Buick, San Rafael.

NEW FORD GALAXIE MODEL

This two-door formal hardtop has been added to the Ford Galaxie 500 models for 1968. Safety features on all 1968 Fords include a new energy-absorbing steering column, redesigned instrument panel with improved injury protection and a dual hydraulic system. Cars will be shown Friday at J and B Ford Sales, Corte Madera; Ames Ford Sales, San Rafael, and L. J. Dervin Ford Co., Novato.

Stock Market Shows Drop–Profit Taking

The market was higher at the start but gradually lost its edge as profit taking got under way.

Losses were taken by many leading issues, including Du Pont, American Telephone, Boeing, Chrysler, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad.

International Rectifier and Campbell Soup were active gainers.

Actively traded, Flying Tiger and Seaboard World Airlines dropped about 2 each. Also among the volume leaders, American Telephone and Koppers dropped about a point each.

McDonnell Douglas dropped about 1½. Campbell Soup and Outboard Marine were active and up about a point.

Natural Gas Use Rise Predicted

SAN FRANCISCO — Howard Boyd, who has been elected president of the Independent Natural Gas Association of America at its annual meeting here, predicted that U.S. consumption of natural gas will approximately double in the next two decades.

Boyd said that natural gas, which accounts for more than one-third of the nation's energy needs, is today the leading source of energy in the United States.

Boyd, who is chairman of the board of El Paso Natural Gas Co., said that approximately 18.8 trillion cubic feet of natural gas will be consumed in the U.S. this year. By 1990, according to the industry's best estimates, requirements in the U.S. will reach an estimated 36 trillion cubic feet, he said.

Contract Given For Giant Dam Near Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)— A $136,261,544 contract for construction of Mica Dam on the Columbia River System has been awarded to a five-company group headed by the Guy F. Atkinson Co. of San Francisco.

The British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority, the provincial agency charged with building the multimillion-dollar Columbia project under a Canadian - U.S. treaty, described the contract as the largest single one ever awarded in Canada. The contract does not include the underground powerhouse which will generate 2 million kilowatts of power for British Columbia.

The combine also includes the Arundel Corp., Baltimore, Md.; L. E. Dixon Co., San Gabriel; Dillingham Corp. of Canada Ltd., and Commonwealth Construction Co., both of Vancouver.

Lockheed May Make Jetliner

BURBANK (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp. has a tentative go-ahead from its board of directors to produce the Model L-1011 jet airplane.

The firm's estimated $250 million bid to re-enter the commercial airliner business will depend on "sufficient orders" from airlines, the directors decided yesterday. The number was not specified.

If enough orders are forthcoming, the firm's Burbank - based Lockheed-California Division will begin production of the aircraft next year. It would enter airline service by 1972.

The craft is understood to be a three-engined "baby skybus" to carry from 200 to 300 passengers at ranges of up to 2,000 miles.

'Sandpaper' Road Is Tested

WHITING, Ind. — A new "sandpaper" highway surface to reduce automobile accidents caused by skidding is being field tested by asphalt researchers.

All road surfaces normally become slippery when the exposed edges of stones and coarser sand particles are polished smooth by traffic. To remedy this surface polishing, American Oil Co. research laboratories are testing a slow abrasion process which exposes fresh sand particles continuously to contact tires and eliminates skidding.
